RACISM SHAME IN CHAMPIONS LEAGUE: PSG, BASAKSEHIR WALK

Players from both teams walk after fourth official describes Turkey's assistant coach, Pierre Webo, as 'black' in Romanian

UNPRECEDENTED SHOW OF SOLIDARITY

This was the first time that players from both teams walked off, forcing UEFA to suspend the match (it will be completed on Wednesday). After Sebastian Coltescu, the fourth official, used the racist slur, Basaksehir forward Demba Ba asked him for an explanation as to why he used the term. Kylian Mbappe and Neymar joined in a lengthy touchline row

'SAY NO TO RACISM. BLACK LIVES MATTER'

- After the incident, both Neymar and Mbappe tweeted to show their support for the assistant coach. "Say no to racism," posted Mbappe while Neymar wrote: "Black Lives Matter"
- Sport's European governing body announced an investigation. The remainder of the game will have a new set of officials

Up to ₹5 lakh fine, 7-year jail term for cow slaughter

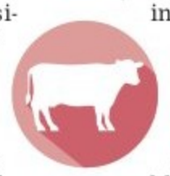
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

DESPITE stiff opposition from the Congress and JDS members, the Karnataka Assembly on Wednesday passed the Karnataka Prevention of Slaughter and Preservation of Cattle Bill, 2020. The Bill seeks a total ban on the slaughter of cows in the state and stringent punishment for those indulging in smuggling, illegal transportation, atrocities on cows and slaughtering them.

Before tabling the Bill, BJP members, wearing saffron shawls, conducted 'Gau puja' inside the Vidhana Soudha. Animal Husbandry Minister Prabhu Chavan tabled the Bill in the afternoon.

Leader of the Opposition Siddaramaiah raised objection to the Bill not being included in the day's agenda. "When it was decided in the Business Advisory Committee that only an ordinance will be tabled in the House, how can you bring a new Bill? Why spring a surprise?" he questioned. Congress members trooped to the well of the House, forcing an adjournment for some time.

However, BJP members countered the Opposition saying in 2013, when Congress withdrew the Bill which had been passed by the BJP in 2010, it was done in the same manner.



As per the Bill, 'cattle' is defined as cow, calf of a cow/bull, bullock and he/she buffalo aged below 13 years. Slaughter of cows will be a cognisable offence and attract three to seven years of imprisonment. This apart, the penalty has also been increased. For the first offence, the penalty will be not less than ₹50,000, and may extend up to ₹5 lakh. For the second and subsequent offence, it is not less than ₹1 lakh and can go up to ₹10 lakh. P4

Unions reject govt offer, announce scaled-up stir

Centre's 20-page proposal includes amendments to new farm laws; farmers plan to hold nationwide dharna on December 14

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi/Chandigarh

REJECTING a basket of proposals the Centre offered in writing to amend the contentious new farm sector reform laws, farmer unions on Wednesday hardened their stance, demanding their total repeal and announced plans to scale up the protests, including a nationwide dharna on December 14.

A day after representatives of 13 farmer unions met Union Home Minister Amit Shah, the Centre sent a 20-page proposal on the measures it intended to take to address the misgivings of all stakeholders, including amendments (see box), but embedding the minimum support price mechanism into the law was not on offer. Instead, the Centre offered to give a written assurance on the MSP regime.

A meeting of the united forum of farmer union leaders (Samyukt Kisan Morcha) later rejected the proposals and decided to intensify the protest. As part of the plan, the Delhi-Jaipur and Delhi-Agra highways will be blocked on December 12 to gherao and choke the Capital. On the same day, no toll will be collected across any toll booth in the country, they announced. There was, however, no clarity on how they would enforce their toll-free fiat across the country.

On December 14, they intend to hold a nationwide dharna at the district level, gheraoing BJP offices. They also claimed they will impose an economic boycott on products and services provided by mega corporates led by Gautam Adani and Mukesh Ambani, including the use of Jio mobiles and petrol pumps owned by the Reliance group.

Darshan Pal, president of the Krantikari Kisan Union, said, "On December 14, farmers of Delhi, Haryana, Punjab, Madhya Pradesh, Uttar Pradesh, Rajasthan and Uttarakhand will hold a day's protest at the district headquarters and move towards Delhi. As for farmers in other states, they will start an indefinite strike from that day."

Trashing the proposals put out for the first time in writing by the Centre, farmer leader Prahalad Singh Bharukheda said there is nothing new in them. The All India Kisan Sangharsh Coordination Committee (AIKSCC), too, termed them "old proposals dressed up as new". The Shiromani Akali Dal urged the Centre to stop playing games with the farmers and immediately and unconditionally withdraw the three controversial laws.

In the evening, a delegation of five Opposition parties met President Ram Nath Kovind, seeking his intervention to accept the demands of the protesting farmers. The Opposition claimed that they had support of at least 20 different political parties who are against the new farm laws. P9

CENTRE'S OFFER

1. Written assurance that MSP system will stay. Farmers want it embedded in the law
2. Amending laws to allow states to register private traders working outside mandis; provision to impose cess/fee on them
3. Amendments to give farmers option to approach civil courts for dispute resolution
4. No loan can be availed for any type of construction done on contracted land. Nor can the sponsor encroach upon such construction after contract ends
5. Lease, mortgage or sale of farmers' land prohibited. Land cannot be attached by sponsors
6. Concerns on stubble burning to be addressed
7. No change in present system of paying electricity bills

Amit Shah, Tomar explore options

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

UNION Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar on Wednesday met Union Home Minister Amit Shah to discuss the future course of action to end the deadlock with the protesting farmers. Sources privy to the deliberations said they discussed a possible alternative to end the stalemate. Minister of Railways and Commerce Minister Piyush Goyal was also present. Jagmohan Singh, general secretary of the Bharatiya Kisan Union (Dakaunda), said farmer leaders were open for dialogue. "We will attend a meeting if the government invites, but our demand should be met. It has become a mass movement. We cannot return to our villages empty-handed," he added.

Regulator asks for more data from Bharat Biotech, SII

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Central Drugs Standards Control Organisation's subject expert committee on Covid-19 on Wednesday sought more data from Bharat Biotech and the Serum Institute on the safety and immunogenicity of their vaccines.

These firms, along with US-based Pfizer, have applied to the CDSCO for emergency use authorization of their vaccines in India. "Today was the first meeting to consider the approvals of the three Covid-19 vaccines but representatives from Pfizer could not participate," a source in the drug regulator told TNIE.

The expert panel sought additional information before conclusive recommendation can be made to the Drug Controller General of India, the source said, adding that the matter is still under review.

A health ministry official said many meetings will be held before the committee submits its recommendation, based on which the DCGI will take a final decision.

Bharat Biotech's Covaxin is in the final stage of trial in India. Covishield, manufactured by Serum, is also being tested on 1,600 Indians as part of phase-2 and -3 clinical trials.

Meanwhile, two National Health Service workers in the UK experienced severe allergic reactions soon after they took the Pfizer vaccine. P16

Ravi Kumar likely to be new Chief Secretary

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THE incumbent Chief Secretary, T M Vijay Bhaskar, is set to retire on December 31. He will most likely be succeeded by P Ravi Kumar, the Additional Chief Secretary, Government of Karnataka. Ravi Kumar belongs to the 1984 batch of the Indian Administrative Service (IAS) and is the second senior most IAS officer of Karnataka cadre after Bhaskar.

"There has been no talk in the government regarding the extension of the tenure of the incumbent Chief Secretary," said placed sources.

Kumar, who enjoys a sound reputation as a bureaucrat and 'team leader', will take on the affairs of Karnataka bureaucracy at a time when the financial health of the State has taken a serious blow because of the pandemic and has adversely impacted tax collection.

"The biggest challenge facing the top bureaucrat would be tax collection, maintaining the fiscal deficit below 3 per cent and ensuring that the State's debt to gross state domestic product does not cross 25 per cent. It is currently at 19 per cent but is bound to go up because of the GDP growth, which is in negative," said official sources. P7

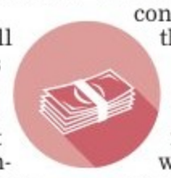
New wage rules kick in from April, expect big changes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

STARTING April 2021, your social security net is likely to be further strengthened with higher retirement corpus and gratuity payout but your monthly take-home salary may come down.

According to the Centre's proposed compensation rules that are expected to kick in from the next financial year, the allowance component in the salary package cannot be more than 50% of the total compensation.

In other words, basic salary has to be at least 50% of the total pay. So, the employees' contribution towards the provident fund (PF) will go up, resulting in lower take-home salary. However, this will entail higher gratuity payments and PF money for workers when they retire.



While employees will benefit long-term, firms may have to shell out more money as the rise in basic pay will result in a proportional increase in employer's contribution to the PF as well as gratuity.

The new guidelines are part of the Wage Code 2019 passed by Parliament last year. The Central Government is expected to notify the final rules after considering feedback from the public.

Officials said the new definition is an attempt to simplify the various regulations related to wages. According to experts, it will also change the way private firms treat employees.

Currently, many private companies prefer to set basic pay as low as 20% of the total salary with allowances taking bulk of the total salary.

To comply with the new rules, these companies will have to revamp their salary structure by raising the basic pay. According to rules, PF is not compulsory for employees drawing more than ₹15,000 a month. It is voluntary on part of the employer and employee to make PF contributions on actual wages if the salary is more than ₹15,000.

Experts point out that some large companies in the formal sector already keep basic pay at 50%. For those firms, the need for revamping salary structure may not arise.

Employee cost to go up for companies

The new compensation norms could force firms to stop the current practice of structuring pay package with higher allowances to lower social security contributions. With basic pay going up, companies will have to shell out more for their share of PF contribution and gratuity

BBMP limits to cover more area, include rich IT pockets

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE BBMP Joint Select Committee, headed by BJP MLA S Raghu, has recommended the inclusion of 1km area beyond the existing BBMP limits encompassing 800 sqkm.

The government is expected to pass a separate BBMP Bill on Thursday. Tabled in the assembly in March, the BBMP Bill was referred to a joint committee after several city MLAs, including those from the BJP, opposed it. The State Government constituted a 20-member Joint Select Committee in August, headed by BJP MLA Raghu, to look into the BBMP Bill. The panel, which has recommended 243 wards, tabled its report in the assembly on Wednesday.

BJP MLA from Basavangudi Ravi Subramanya, who is part of the committee, said they have recommended expanding the Palike limits to 1 kilometre from the existing BBMP border. These will include IT pockets located outside the existing BBMP limits, like parts of Electronics City, and some IT parks outside Mahadevapura. This is expected to improve the corporation's revenue inflow. P2

NAILING TREES? FACE CRIMINAL ACTION: BBMP CHIEF

Those stapling pamphlets, tying cables and wires on trees too will face action; Palike asks citizens to be part of 'Nails Free Trees' campaign

BBMP Commissioner N Manjunatha Prasad removes nails and staple pins from trees around Shivananda Circle in Bengaluru on Wednesday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TREES in the city have become a free advertising space for many, and to put an end to the menace, the BBMP chief on Wednesday launched a campaign, Nails Free Trees, and warned offenders of criminal action.

Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Commissioner N Manjunath Prasad said that despite laws to protect them, trees are being ill-treated in the city. "Criminal action will be taken against those who staple and nail pamphlets on trees. Those tying cables and wires on trees too will face action," he warned.

He launched the campaign, being carried out by BPac in association with BBMP, by removing nails from trees at Shivananda Circle near Chitrakala Parishath.

Over the last two weeks, a group of tree-loving Bengalureans is also carrying out a parallel campaign to remove nails and staples from trees. They visit public places during weekends and pull out the nails and proceed to file criminal cases against advertisers.

The commissioner said that nails make trees weak, leading to their death eventually. "Nails deprive trees of water and other essential minerals. Criminal cases will be filed against people and companies putting up advertisement pamphlets on trees," he added. The BBMP asked citizens to join the campaign to remove nails and also to identify the culprits.

HC: State, BMRCL should act as public trustees on tree axing

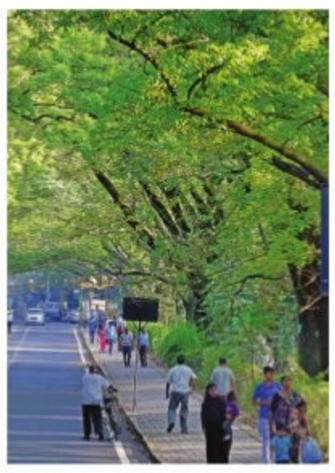
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday directed the State Government and Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) to clarify within a week whether they are willing to leave the issue of felling or translocation of 872 trees to a committee of experts. The bench was constituted to recommend a Tree Officer to grant permission to remove trees after spot inspection.

A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice S Vishwajith Shetty passed the order after hearing the PIL filed by Dattatreya T Devare and Bangalore Environment Trust.

BMRCL filed an interlocutory application (IA) seeking permission to fell or translocate 872 trees for which restriction under Section 8(7) of the Karnataka Preservation of Trees Act on felling of trees like Coconut, Mango, Eucalyptus, Silver Oak, etc., is not applicable, without waiting for sanction from the Tree Officer. After hearing the IA, the Bench noted that prima facie it appears that the restriction will not apply.

"Under Section 8(7), it is the duty of the Tree Officer to preserve all trees in his jurisdiction... BMRCL is constituted by the state and central governments, and is a public sector undertaking. Therefore, the doctrine of public trust will apply under which it is the duty to protect the environment... If public trust is applicable, it is obvious that the state or BMRCL will have to act as trustees," the Bench said.



The state and BMRCL will have to take assistance from experts in the field. They must make their stand clear within a week, whether they are willing to leave the issue of translocation or felling of trees to the committee of experts

HC bench

The Bench said it is true that sustainable development is also being recognised. In the circumstances, restrictions under Section 8 are not applicable to 872 trees. The state and BMRCL, however, cannot remove or fell 872 trees mechanically. They have to apply mind to save them, the Bench said.

"The state and BMRCL will have to take assistance from experts in the field. They must make their stand clear within a week, whether they are willing to leave the issue of translocation or felling of trees to the committee of experts," the bench said, adjourning the hearing to December 21, 2020.

Tree Census

Meanwhile, the Tree Officer of Bengaluru Urban informed the court that a total of 31,644 trees were covered by the census, and the Tree Officer of BBMP area told the court that 14,144 trees were enumerated in his jurisdiction.

Both officials informed the court that they are following the procedure laid down for processing applications filed by BMRCL, seeking permission to fell or translocate trees.

The bench said the process will continue but orders on the applications should not be given effect. They should be placed on record before court on or before January 4, 2021, the bench added, adjourning the hearing to January 5, 2021.

She had fallen at her home on Sunday and was getting treated at Hassan government hospital before being brought to Bengaluru. The doctors advised immediate surgery, which was successful and now she is in the ICU," he said. Dr Sanjay Pai, orthopedic surgeon at the hospital who conducted the surgery, said 109-year-old activist is under observation now. "Healing takes longer time at this age. Tree translocation machine from BIAL

To address the issue of trees being axed to make way for infrastructure projects, BBMP Commissioner N Manjunatha Prasad said that they are procuring a tree-translocation machine from Bengaluru International Airport Ltd, which has agreed to give it to them. DCF Ranganathaswamy said that so far, they were translocating trees manually as using a machine was expensive. ENS

FOR A BIGGER BBMP

Committee bats for inclusion of Gram Panchayats under Palike

THE committee also recommended inclusion of Gram Panchayats and Taluk Panchayats into the new bigger BBMP. This apart, the committee also recommended longer terms for the mayor, deputy mayor and standing committees from the existing 12 months to 30 months (2.5 years). They have also recommended reducing the number of standing committees from 12 to eight. "We will strengthen the committees," Ravi Subramanya said.

It also recommended giving more power to zonal commissioners. "At present, most of the files come to the commissioner and things get delayed as he is the only person clearing them. By giving power to zonal commissioners to clear files of contracts up to Rs 5 crore, files can be cleared at the zonal level itself," he added.

The Karnataka government has approached the Supreme Court in appeal against the recent High Court direction on conducting BBMP elections at the earliest.

Recently, the high court directed the government to conduct elections within six weeks from the date of issuing reservation notification. A meeting of Bengaluru MLAs was chaired by Law Minister JC Madhuswamy on Monday to discuss the issue.

MAJOR SUGGESTIONS

- Increase geographical area of existing BBMP, include few revenue generating pockets like IT companies, into Palike limits
- Terms of mayor, deputy mayor and standing committees increased from existing 12 to 30 months
- Give more powers to zonal commissioners
- Cut down number of standing committees from 12 to 8

What's the beef? State zoos wait for clarity on anti-cow slaughter bill

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

ZOOS in the state are worried over the Karnataka Prevention of Slaughter and Preservation of Cattle Bill, 2020, passed in the assembly on Wednesday. They are now waiting for the rules to be framed before deciding the next course of action.

The bill has redefined the cattle, from the 1964 one. Earlier, it specified cows, now it includes all cattle. It has, however, exempted the slaughter of bulls and buffaloes above the age of 13 and those below 12, which are ill and certified by a veterinary officer.

"We have been following similar guidelines while procuring beef for the carnivores. We were not procuring milking cows. Tenders were issued and finalised for buffaloes and bulls. This would be followed now also. However, a final word from the government is still awaited," said an official from the Zoo Authority of Karnataka.

The zoos need large amounts of beef daily to feed the tigers, lions and leopards. All zoos procure beef from certified suppliers, six days a week (not Tuesday). Bannerghatta Biological Park needs around 600 kg a day, while Mysuru Zoo needs around 350 kg.

"The new bill has led to some uncertainty, but we cannot comment till the rules are framed. There are many unanswered questions and we need clarity," the official added.

Some officials from the Zoo Authority and the Animal Husbandry Department have expressed their concern about the method of certification. They point that the pressure on others, apart from government veterinarians, will increase to give slaughter permission, which could also lead to illegal practices. There are many such grey areas which have been left unattended.

Animal Husbandry and Fisheries Minister Prabhu Chauhan said, "The new bill, an amendment to the 1964 one, specifies what can be slaughtered and what are exempted. The earlier exemptions will continue."

10th December: I am increasingly interested in the notion of parallel universes. According to this theory, our universe is one of an infinite number. The implications are pretty astounding and some scientists reason that, somewhere in another universe, there is someone like me writing this column, and someone like you reading it!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You are not one to play the martyr. However, you may be wise to consider a tactical withdrawal, if only to regroup your forces and avoid being blamed for mistakes which are frankly nothing to do with you. Keep an eye out for lingering legal problems, though.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You never did play all your trump cards in one go. Therefore, you are really in quite a strong position. At work, you can afford to be perfectly charming and considerate even to your rivals. Partners will be impressed if you set your sights on the long-term picture, and put short-term distractions in their proper place.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
It's the Moon which is important today;, indicating that other people have the emotional advantage. You may therefore have to grin and bear it as they play their little games, extracting what pleasure they can from winding you up. The golden rule is: never take the bait!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You may not feel like sharing whatever good fortune comes your way, but you must realise that other people do deserve some of the rewards. Complicated emotional situations are not entirely their fault. You may bear some responsibility, so a little humility may be in order.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
The expensive phase you have been going through is due to continue for about another eight days. Therefore, you must expect a large bill or some other demand for money to arrive at almost any time. How you deal with it is up to you - and your good judgment.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Battle may be commenced at home, but possibly not until tomorrow. You have a little time left to work out a strategy but also to complete any tasks or obligations which you have left undone. The real question, though, is a psychological one: why are you ready for a clash with authority?

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Your persuasive powers are strong, yet your grasp of the facts is slight. In your confusion you are nothing if not typical, for nobody has any real idea as to what is actually happening. Any light you can shed on the situation will be most welcome, even if partners don't fully get your drift!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
As Jupiter gradually moves closer to a vital alignment with a number of other planets over the coming time, your chances of a breakthrough can only improve. However, when it comes, the change may be one of inner attitude rather than outer circumstances.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The Moon, that most emotional and changeable of planets, is still at your beck and call. This means that you are in control at home and that all family arrangements may be shaped to your will. Can you really do it? I honestly feel that you can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Your best policy today may be to keep certain matters to yourself. There is nothing to be gained from talking to other people about your hopes, wishes or problems that can't be sorted out in private. What you have to do is wait until the time is right to speak your heart.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Do make an effort to mix socially and get out and about as much as possible. Hopefully, people you meet now will go some way to improving your morale and restoring your battered confidence. There could be a bit of an emotional confrontation in the air, but at least the truth could come out at last.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Other people will be expecting you to perform some sort of maternal, caring role. However, it is you, not they, who is searching for emotional security, so please try to be clear about your motives. You have to be absolutely sure of your next step.

Active cases lowest, recovery highest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITH a relatively robust number of 3,218 discharges on Wednesday, Karnataka's active Covid-19 case count is the lowest since October 10 when the state saw the highest number of active cases at 1,20,929. The recovery rate, too, has risen to its highest.

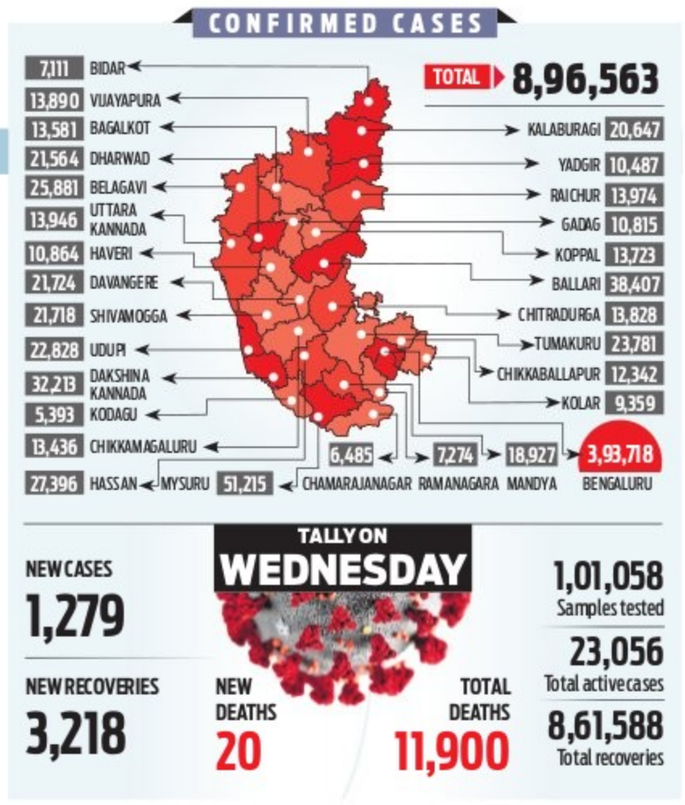
The number of active cases is now just 23,056 – the lowest after November 30 when the number was 23,279. Active cases had been on the rise since then, except on December 5 and December 7 when it declined from the previous day.

The biggest decline in active cases was on October 22, when the number fell from 1,00,440 cases to 92,927, a drop of 7.48%. The active cases fell below the 30,000-mark on November 12.

Karnataka recorded the highest recovery rate as on Wednesday at 96.09%. It had crossed the 98%-mark on November 30, but in the following days it fell as the number of daily additions to positive cases was more than those discharged. October 22 saw the 13,550 patients being discharged, which is the highest so far in a single day.

The state's positivity rate (the number testing positive for every 100 persons tested) has been steadily declining. It has dropped to 7.48% from the highest it reached – 12.54% – on September 27. Health officials say this is heartening, as the number of tests per day has crossed 1.15 lakh from 10-15,000 in the initial days of the pandemic.

The positivity rate fell below 10%-mark on November 5, below the 9%-mark on November 17, and below the 8%-mark on November 30.



Studies find testing, exit strategies key to efficacy

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

AS LOCAL administrations in India prepare for a second wave, infections, two new studies that evaluated interventions such as lockdowns and travel restrictions in containing Covid-19, found that proper testing and exit strategies are crucial.

One study, published in the International Journal of Infectious Diseases in the first week of December, was authored by AIIMS doctors Giridara Gopal Parameswaran, Saptarshi Soham Mohanta and others.

"Imposing a lockdown during the first wave was a good decision, but the health care system wasn't prepared to handle the exit then. We found that exit strategies played a major role in the increase in the number of cases. The study showed that aggressive measures like lockdowns may be inherently enough to suppress an outbreak, however other measures need to be scaled up as lockdowns are relaxed. Premature withdrawal of lockdowns without adequately planned interventions for the post-lockdown phase may lead to the second wave," Giridara Gopal, co-author of the study told The New Indian Express.

A technician puts samples into an airtight bag at a fever clinic in Bengaluru on Wednesday | MEGHANA SASTRY

Globally, there has been an ebb and flow in cases, and countries have tried various means - including reimposing lockdowns - to contain the surge in numbers. In such a scenario, experts believe that India too needs to be prepared and the crux of the containment tool kit would be the testing strategy.

Gopal said that ascertaining the actual number of cases would depend on categorisation of testing. "Presently, when we claim a certain number of infected cases, it is not very clear if that is the actual scenario. This is because we have various types of testing in India - Rapid Antigen Test, TrueNat, RT-PCR, etc. When testing strategies are different, the data can vary too. We will not know the exact spread of the virus," he said.

Explaining, he said, "If the government tests one lakh people in an area where there are about 100 infected people, the positivity rate will be low. However, if they test in a place where 10,000 people are infected, the chances of learning the actual positivity rate is high. Meanwhile, testing categorisation like age group, whether the person was symptomatic or asymptomatic, what comorbidities they had, seroprevalence in an area etc, also plays a role. This data would help to draw actual models about the virus spread and plan strategies to handle the virus better," Gopal said.

The researchers also noted that India's socio-economic disparity needs to be considered.

Another study from The London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine (LSHTM), published in The Lancet Public Health on December 7 suggests that travel restrictions are effective in countries with low Covid-19 cases, or which have strong travel links with countries having high rates of infection.

Travel restrictions may have been effective during the early stages of the pandemic, but that the measures are unlikely to do much when the virus is spreading rapidly within a country.

"...these measures carry a high economic and social cost, so it is important that governments use travel restrictions in a targeted way... they should take into account local infection figures, epidemic growth rates, and the volume of travellers arriving from countries heavily-affected by the virus," the study said.

FARMERS TO LAY SIEGE TO SOUDHA AGAIN TODAY

● Wednesday's march stopped near K R Circle ● Police send back many ryots from border areas of Bengaluru ● Organisers expect thousands to take part on Thursday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

RELENTLESS in their opposition to the farm reform laws of Central and state governments, state farmers have threatened to again lay siege to Karnataka's political nerve centre, Vidhana Soudha, on Thursday after Wednesday's efforts to do so proved futile with the police and ruling party leaders taking steps to prevent it.

Kodihalli Chandrashekar, state president, Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha and Karnataka Hasiru Sene, told TNIE, "We have planned to lay siege to Vidhana Soudha on Thursday afternoon and more farmers are expected to join the rally."

Thousands of farmers along with members of several organisations on Wednesday were heading towards Vidhana Soudha, where the legislature session is on since Monday, when the police stopped them near KR Circle and took some into preventive custody.

Primary and Secondary Education Minister S Suresh Kumar met the protesers at Freedom Park, where they had congregated, and tried to convince them not to lay siege to Vidhana Soudha and assured them that he would discuss their demands with Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa and ensure officers would look into the matter.

Farmer leaders said that policemen stopped more than 5,000 farmers near tollgates at Devanahalli, Nelamangala and Hosakote. The police had barricaded entry points to Bengaluru, anticipating hordes of farmers coming into the state capital from neighbouring areas, like Chikkaballapur, Hosakote and Tumakuru. The police checked all the vehicles at the tollgates and sent back farmers.

Policemen were deployed in large numbers at major junctions in the city, like Mekhri Circle, Vijayanagar Toll, Bapuji Nagar and Madiwala. The traffic was badly hit around KR Circle, Anand Rao Circle and Sheshadri Road after large groups of farmers, who had managed to enter the city and those who were in the city since the Bharat Bandh on Tuesday, moved towards Freedom Park before planning to march to Vidhana Soudha. Traffic jams were seen till late afternoon and at least two ambulances caught in the gridlock were diverted by the police through Gandhinagar to nearest hospitals.

Karnataka Rakshana Vedike activists began a rally from Town Hall to reach Raj Bhavan to submit a memorandum to the Governor, but the police stopped them at KR Circle and allowed only eight representatives to enter Raj Bhavan. The activists submitted the memorandum to administrative officials, as they were not allowed to meet the governor because of Covid restrictions.

Rashtriya Sulabh Shauchalay univ jibe creates furore

Bengaluru: Congress leader BK Hariprasad created an uproar in the Legislative Council on Wednesday, with his 'Rashtriya Sulabh Shauchalay university' jibe. During the debate on the APMC Amendment Bill, Hariprasad was in the midst of a scathing attack on Central government policies and PM Modi, when BJP MLC Ayanur Manjunath jumped up in defence and engaged in an heated argument with Hariprasad. As they sparred, Hariprasad said, "I have studied in Bengaluru University, not in Rashtriya Sulabh Shauchalay university, and don't need to learn from you." Irked BJP members demanded that the words be expunged. ENS

Deputation practice to stop

Bengaluru: The state plans to end the practice of deputing officials to other departments, Minister for Law and Parliamentary Affairs J C Madhuswamy said on Wednesday. Due to this, many departments faced staff shortage, he said. Madhuswamy said that all officials on deputation would soon be sent back to their parent departments. ENS

Pension now to bank accounts

Bengaluru: The government will now disburse pensions through banks instead of the postal department, whose staff often have to be bribed to release the amounts due to beneficiaries, Revenue Minister R Ashok said on Wednesday. Pensioners' accounts will be linked to their Aadhaar numbers and they will receive certificates from the jurisdictional tahsildars within 14 days of reaching the age of 60, he said. ENS

APMC Bill cleared amid Cong walkout

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AMID a walkout by Congress members, the Agricultural Produce Marketing Committee (Regulation & Development) (Amendment) Bill, which will allow farmers to sell their produce anywhere, was passed by the Legislative Council on Wednesday.

After a lengthy debate which lasted more than five hours, Co-operation Minister S T Somashekhar proposed passage of the Bill. The Congress members, who alleged that the amendment had some hidden agenda and it was done on instructions from the BJP-led Union Government, walked out of the House. Though the JD(S) members demanded that the Bill be put to vote by division and entered the well of the House, the Bill was passed by voice vote.

Earlier, during the debate, Minister Somashekhar said that the amendment will help farmers as it allows them to sell their produce at a place of their choice. "As of now, they have to sell their produce only at APMCs. Also, the APMC Vigilance Committee was penalising farmers Rs 2,000 to Rs 5,000 and booked cases against them if found selling their produce outside APMCs. This is also repealed from the Act," he said.

Opposition members expressed fear that the Bill will change the way the farm sector functions and that it may put farmers in trouble. JD(S) MLC Marithibbegowda said that only 30 per cent of agricultural produce was coming to the APMCs and the rest was being sold outside by farmers.

Opposition leader S R Patil, said that APMCs cannot help farmers with Minimum Support Price (MSP) if the amendment is made. "I am sure the APMCs will vanish in a few years if the bill is passed," he added and walked out of the House, while other members of the Congress party followed him.

Somashekhar said that the amendment had nothing to do with MSP and it will continue even after the Bill is enacted.

Modi, BJP care more about farmers than Union leaders: BSY

Bengaluru: Even as farmer unions continued to protest against the State Government's amendments to Land Reforms Act, passed by the Legislative Council on Tuesday, CM B S Yediyurappa on Wednesday appealed to farmers to call off their agitation. Insisting that the farm bills and Land Reforms Act amendments are pro-farmer, the CM said PM Modi and BJP are more empathetic to farmers' issues than union leaders. "It isn't right to protest every day. Cooperate with the government, let us sit discuss your concerns," he said.

Shobha under fire for calling farmers 'terrorists'

Mysuru: Calling out BJP MP Shobha Karandlaje for branding protesting farmers as 'terrorists', state Mahila Congress chief Pushpa Amarnath has demanded her resignation. "Shobha has also accused farmers of getting funds from abroad to continue protests. It's shameful. We must remember that they are the ones who toil in the field to provide us food. She has no moral right to continue as an MP," said Pushpa. The MP should instead be talking about why she has not opposed the hike in petrol and cooking gas prices, she added.

FARMERS' IRE AGAINST BJP-JDS COULD BENEFIT CONG

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

IT could be disadvantage JDS in the Gram Panchayat polls for having supported the controversial land reforms bill.

On the other hand, the Congress is likely to benefit from the farmer's ire against both the BJP and the JDS as the party is strongly opposing the bill both inside and outside Parliament and Assembly.

JDS which had stalled the bill during the previous session had made a U-turn and supported the amendment to the Land Reforms Bill to get it passed in the Legislative Council. The rank and file of the party, the Raitha Sangha and also the agitating farmers are shocked over the change in the stand of JDS supremo H D Deve Gowda and his son H D Kumaraswamy.

In the 2016 elections, JDS which claimed to be the face and voice of the farmers and a rural-based party, netted 610 Taluk and 148 Zilla Panchayat members. The party is also gearing up for the ensuing village panchayat elections which are not held on the party symbols.

It will be tough for the party to explain to people as to what prompted them to support the bill when the farmers across the state are on the streets.

Some JDS leaders who didn't want to be named said this will further erode their support base in the run up to the polls. They feel that it is a big setback both in terms of the election prospects and also credibility.

The Raitha Sangha factions which are staging protests at Freedom Park in Bengaluru are already dubbing JDS anti-farmer. Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha leader Markandiah said that they have decided to contest the panchayat elections and also make the land reforms bills a poll issue and expose what he called the double standards of the JDS.

Opposition leader Siddaramaiah and KPCC president D K Shiva Kumar have also reached out to the agitating farmers and have extended their support. Congress leader H C Mahadevappa said that the JDS has committed a historical blunder by opposing the bill outside and supporting it inside the House.

BJP's no-trust move against Council chair stymied

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE BJP moved a no-confidence motion against Legislative Council chairperson Pratapchandra Shetty on Wednesday, leading to an argument between the BJP and Opposition.

As soon as proceedings resumed in the Council, senior BJP MLC Ayanur Manjunath and other members requested that their notice to move a no-confidence motion should be considered. But Congress members objected, saying it was not mentioned in the day's agenda and hence, cannot be taken up for discussion.

BJP members said they had submitted the notice more than 14 days ago, as per rules, to which Opposition members said they had come to discuss important issues, including the APMC Bill, and protested by entering the well of the House.

Chairperson K Pratapchandra Shetty adjourned the hearing till 1pm, saying he would take legal opinion on allowing the notice for no-confidence motion. When the House resumed, Congress members entered the well, and Leader of the Opposition SR Patil said they would return to their seats only if the House business was conducted as per the agenda, and a debate over the APMC Amendment Bill was held.

CAG: 108 ambulances helped only 50% of patients within 1 hr

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN nearly 50 per cent of cases, 108 ambulances did not ferry accident and medical emergency patients to hospitals within the first one hour, revealed the Comptroller and Auditor General's report for 2014 to 2019.

The report, tabled in the Assembly on Wednesday, said the Arogya Kavacha ambulance service, which needs to respond within 10 minutes in serious cases, could reach the spot only by 30 minutes in 72 per cent of the cases, so ten minutes is still a tall order.

"What is worse is that 20 per cent of vacancies in posts of ambulance drivers and emergency management technicians were not filled in time, leading to ambulances remaining off-road for 41,342 days during the audit period," it stated.

The report said suspected fraudulent payments cost the exchequer ₹2,800 crore. Against an outlay of ₹7.2 lakh crore, the application of resources was a mere ₹4.7 lakh crore.

It stated that an assistant revenue officer's inaction led to a loss of ₹6.76 crore in property tax to BBMP. The Palike adopted incorrect rates for a roadside drain, causing a loss of ₹1.09 crore. BDA fraudulently allowed contractors to benefit by about ₹1.9 crore. The Director of Koppal Institute of Medical Sciences issued cheques of ₹64 lakh for purchasing equipment which were never delivered. Equipment worth ₹98 lakh in ICUs were not functional in district and taluk hospitals. BBMP wrongly computed royalty, resulting in a loss of ₹2.15 crore. The Karnataka Slum Development Board withdrew its fixed deposits causing a ₹1.2 crore loss.

REPORT HIGHLIGHTS

- Errors in estimates by Karnataka State Highway Development Project resulted in loss of ₹3.9 cr to the govt; wrong decisions caused loss of ₹6.6 cr
- Mandatory cesses amounting to ₹61.84 cr were not collected, in some cases, they were incorrectly credited, amounting to about Rs 60 cr
- ₹17.5 cr wasteful expenditure incurred due to Belavadi-Doddakere feeder canal
- Mines & Geology dept didn't collect ₹6.47 cr royalty from quarry leaseholders
- Commercial taxes dept did not levy stipulated penalty, causing loss of ₹29 cr
- Excise dept collected less tax from 104 bars, leading to loss of ₹17.16 cr; Dept did not devise plan to deal with refunds amounting to ₹2,536 cr under KVAT
- Commercial taxes dept did not take action on non-payment of tax amounting to ₹15 cr; ₹13.49 cr tax was short-levied

Gram Panchayat polls: Contestants go hi-tech

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @Gadag

NO rallies every day. Knocking on doors being reduced. As the contest for the gram panchayat polls has started hotting up in the district, the candidates this time are going digital to reach out to the voters. The contestants and the netas are using social media for campaigning due to the curbs on public meetings in the wake of the pandemic.

Many local leaders who have suffered financial losses after the pandemic-induced lockdown, now don't have money to spend like in earlier polls. They have chosen to go digital as part of their cost-cutting measures.

The GP members who won last time have now opened Facebook pages and started WhatsApp groups to post their development works and also pictures of their achievements. Some aspirants too are sharing their photos and works.

Villagers say that they can reach all voters as everyone has smart phones these days. Local leaders are now sharing e-banners through social media.

Sharanu Patil, a villager of Ron taluk, said, "Door-to-door campaigning has almost come down as the candidates and leaders are reaching out to people through social media. Some visit the villager groups' with mobiles in their hands and are showing photos of their leaders' work to woo the voters. It is the best way to follow Covid-19 rules."

Sikandar M Ari, an aspirant of Abbigeri Gram Panchayat, said, "It is difficult to visit each house as our villagers have been following Covid-19 rules strictly. We will make banners and put them up when polls are nearer. Now we are sending e-banners and messages to our people and are seeking votes on social media platforms."

GP seats continue to be 'auctioned', DC warns of action

Tumakuru: Deputy Commissioner Dr K Rakesh Kumara has warned stringent action against all those involved in the 'auction' of Gram Panchayat seats. Seats at Doddanaravangala GP in Tumakuru rural, were reportedly auctioned and no nomination papers were filed. "No written complaint was filed nor was evidence found in these cases. If someone provides the same, action will be taken. It is undemocratic to conduct such auctions," Dr Kumara said. Videos of such auctions at Kalaburagi and Ballari districts have gone viral on social media. ENS

'Take action against Revanna over poll code violation'

Hassan: BJP leader Devarajegowda has alleged that former minister H D Revanna violated the model election code of conduct in his constituency by promising grants for the development of temples. He said Revanna gave money to NGOs through contractors in different gram panchayat limits. He accused supporters of Revanna of luring GP candidates by promising them positions and money. He asked the district election officer to take action against the Holenarasipur MLA and urged the electoral officer to take steps for fair elections in the district. ENS

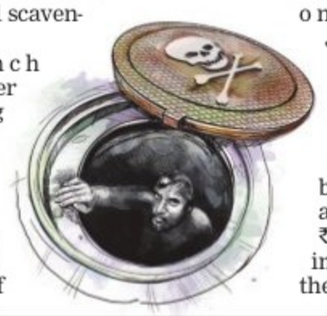
HC asks state to prepare insanitary latrine database

Seeks details of rehabilitation of manual scavengers, wants each family to get ₹40K

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

NOTING that provisions of the Prohibition of Employment as Manual Scavengers and their Rehabilitation Act, 2013, have not been implemented, the Karnataka High Court on Wednesday issued various directions, including one to the State Government, asking it to prepare a comprehensive database on insanitary latrines across the state, and to note details about their conversion or demolition.

"The social welfare department has relied upon data published by the government of India, which shows there are 53,15,715 insanitary latrines in the state. This indicates a failure on the part of local authorities (municipality, panchayat and Railways) and the State Government has to implement the provisions," a division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice S Vishwajith Shetty said. The government has to submit a list of steps taken for rehabilitation of manual scavengers, it added.



The bench passed the order after hearing PILs filed by the Karnataka High Court Legal Services Committee and All India Council of Trade Unions (AICTU), seeking direction to the state and Central governments to implement the Act, and also directions issued by the Supreme Court in the case of Safai Karmachari Andolan and others.

The Legal Services Committee recalled an incident that took place on January 7, 2018, where three manual scavengers had died of suffocation while cleaning a pit inside an apartment complex in Bengaluru.

The bench asked the state to direct local authorities to immediately ascertain the requirement of sanitary community latrines within their jurisdictions, and construct them.

The bench also directed the State Government to initiate an awareness campaign to eliminate open defecation and ensure that all local bodies comply with the obligation. The government should take help from NGOs and the Karnataka State Legal Services Authority to conduct the campaign in rural areas, the bench said, while asking the State to file a compliance report on or before January 30.

The bench noted that families of manual scavengers should be eligible to receive cash assistance of ₹40,000, immediately after their identification.

The cabins are equipped with LED lights, ceiling fans and electric sockets.

Court to govt: How can you appoint officials of doubtful integrity?

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

EXPRESSING shock over posting officials with doubtful integrity to the office of the Competent Authority (CA) appointed to deal with IMA scam cases, the High Court on Wednesday sought an explanation from the state government.

A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice S Vishwajith Shetty directed the Secretary of the Department of Personnel and Administrative Reforms to file an affidavit explaining why the officials against whom Lokayukta or ACB inquiry is pending were posted without a background check.

Asking the DPAR to explain the steps taken on the CA's proposal for creation of independent posts, the bench directed it to ensure adequate number of staff, considering the magnitude of the scam and the huge number of depositors.

Referring to the report submitted by Harsh Gupta, the CA, the bench said, "The CA's report reveals that the officials with doubtful integrity are posted to the posts of Joint Secretary, Assistant Commissioner and Tahsildars. Some officials have not reported for duty citing personal reasons. As a result, it will be difficult for the CA office to carry out the work."

The CA said the process of receiving claims online will continue till Dec 24. Both SMS and voice messages were sent to 71,418 depositors to submit claims, in addition to the letters written individually to 76,597 depositors. The bench said that this showed the magnitude of the CA's task.

'KSPCB chief needs training in eco-laws'

Making an observation that it is high time that the chairman and secretary of the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) underwent training on environment laws and rules, the High Court on Wednesday directed IFS officer Vijaykumar Gogi, chairman of the Board, to file an affidavit explaining under which law he exercised the powers to decide what is "prosecutable offence" and what is "not prosecutable offence" on the use of loudspeakers at a mosque in Bengaluru.

Child labourers rescued at B'luru rly stn

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TWO minors from Bihar, who ran away from their employer at a two-wheeler spare part manufacturing centre in the outskirts of Bengaluru, were rescued by the Railway Protection Force unit at KSR railway station on Tuesday.

The duo, aged 14 and 15, were found by the 'Nanhe Farishtey' unit of the RPF, said a senior Railway official.

"The boys revealed that a year ago, a man named Manoj brought them to the city from Motihari village in Bihar. Their families were promised a handsome salary. They had travelled to Chennai by train and then Manoj brought them to Bengaluru by bus to avoid regular checks conducted by the anti-child trafficking team here," the official said.

"The boys were made to work 16 hours daily. This apart, they were assigned additional work at a bag manufacturing centre. The families were sent small sums ranging between ₹1,000 and ₹2,000 every month so that they do not suspect anything amiss," the officials stated, adding that the exact location of the manufacturing unit is not clear.

The employer was on the lookout for more children to work at his unit and had asked them earlier to call more boys from their village to come over. "On the pretext that boys from their village were coming on Tuesday, the duo got permission to visit the station. A man from their unit accompanied them but they managed to escape from him and were huddled in a corner at the station when the RPF spotted them," the official said.

They were handed over to the Child Welfare Committee and the details of the trafficker have been shared with the local police. An FIR under sections IPC 370 and 70 (A) which deals with human trafficking will be filed, the Railway official added.

Envoys visit Hyd for sneak peek at Covid vaccine

Delegation comprised diplomatic leaders from Asia, Africa, Europe, North America, South America and Oceania

DONITA JOSE @ Hyderabad

AS the world's attention is riveted on Indian vaccine manufacturers' expertise and capabilities to face the Covid-19 challenge and come up trumps, the Union Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) led a 60-member delegation of Ambassadors and High Commissioners from several nations to Hyderabad on Wednesday. This is the first such visit of the Heads of Missions to witness and assess the research and manufacturing facilities of leading biotechnology companies Bharat Biotech and Biological E in Hyderabad's Genome Valley. The high-level contingent comprised diplomatic leaders from Asia, Africa, Europe, North America, South America and Oceania, who were taken around the facilities in two batches. After an initial briefing on the processes adopted for the production of the vaccine via presentations, they visited the lab facilities.

In November, the Foreign Ministry had briefed over 190 heads of diplomatic missions on Covid-related issues.

Tweeting about this unique effort, Anurag Srivastava, Official Spokesperson, MEA, India said, "The participants were briefed on India's indigenous efforts to develop Covid-19 vaccines, including ongoing clinical trials."

A group of 70 envoys visits the Bharat Biotech facility in Hyderabad on Wednesday

Bharat Biotech's Covaxin is an inactivated vaccine, with two doses, currently in the third phase of the trial where nearly 26,000 volunteers are partaking to study its efficacy. Biological E's vaccine, which has Receptor Binding Domain of the Spike Protein of SARS-CoV-2 initiated its phase I/II trials last month.

"The development and clinical evaluation of COVAXINT marks a significant milestone for novel vaccinology in India. COVAXINT has garnered interest from several countries worldwide for supplies and introduction. It not only makes us proud but also reminds us that the world is looking up to India in the common fight against the deadly pandemic," Suchitra Ella, joint managing director of Bharat Biotech, said.

Wednesday's visit is being seen as a crucial one to display India's best efforts to combat Covid. Hyderabad's pharmaceutical sector is valued at around $50 billion, making it the vaccine hub of the country and the world by contributing about 33% of all manufacturing.

RO WATER UNITS SCAM: BSY ORDERS PROBE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister B S Yediyurappa on Wednesday ordered a probe into what he called 'a big scam' in the RO drinking water purifier units in the state. Several legislators, including those from his own ruling party, raised a storm over the issue. Yediyurappa said in the assembly that a joint select committee will probe the matter and its report will be tabled in the House in the coming session.

Stating that the issue had come to his notice, Yediyurappa said, "This is a big scam. At many RO plants, equipment and materials were lying unused. I see that in these plants, four times the money is spent. A detailed probe will be conducted by the joint select committee. It has to travel across the state and complete the probe within two months."

Rural Development & Panchayat Raj (RDPR) Minister K S Eshwarappa said this issue had cropped up earlier too. The state government had then ordered a survey by Ipsos Research Pvt Ltd, an NGO. "The survey showed that of the 18,500 pure drinking water units, 70 per cent were functioning, 26 per cent temporarily closed and 4 per cent permanently shut. We will again go for a probe," he added .

Several legislators raised a storm over the issue | EXPRESS

Venkat Reddy (BJP) raised the issue on non-functional water purifiers in villages in Yadgir during the question hour. Many members cutting across the party lines pointed out how ROs were not working in their constituencies. Many even said each RO would cost Rs 4 lakh, but the agency had claimed to have spent Rs 12 lakh.

Basavaraj Yatnal (BJP) termed it as dacoity by a private agency.

THE Central Crime Branch on Wednesday arrested a 33-year-old woman, who hails from Uganda, and busted an alleged prostitution racket. She is accused of allegedly luring women from her country and forcing them into prostitution, on the pretext of offering them jobs.

The police conducted a raid on a house in Ramamurthynagar and rescued four Ugandan women, who have been shifted to a state home for rehabilitation.

The police team's raid on the house, belonging to one Faizul Ahmed Rahman, followed a tipoff they received about the racket operating there. The accused, Nakkazi Phainaha, was taken into custody where she confessed to the crime.

During interrogation, police found that Phainaha had come to India a year ago on a tourist visa and rented a house to operate from. The landlord, who is on the run, has also been booked.

Meanwhile, the rescued women do not possess any travel documents or valid visas, hence, a separate case has been filed against them for staying illegally in the country. Efforts are also on to look for other suspects involved in the racket.

"THE land, municipality and Panchayat licensing laws in Karnataka are outdated and adversely impact new investments. The new Chief Secretary will have to streamline these laws for the new investors," sources added.

Recently, in a virtual summit, Deputy Chief Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan had assured the investors that Karnataka's GSDP, which presently stands at Rs 15.35 lakh crore, has the potential to reach Rs 35 lakh crore.

Karnataka has traditionally managed its financial health better than most other states in the country. It has been a revenue surplus State.

"The GDP growth rate has gone into negative, which will impact the size of the GSDP. The State has also not received all the four instalments of the Goods & Services Tax (GST) from the Centre," said an official.

Much before the onset of the pandemic, the year began with Karnataka taking a serious beating in the devolution of Central funds by the 15th Finance Commission (FC) after its share was slashed from 4.71 per cent to 3.65 per cent.

Barring Tamil Nadu, the rest of the South Indian states saw their share of horizontal devolution fall after the 15th FC used the 2011 population data to calculate tax shares, which was one of the key reasons for the drastic cut in devolution of funds. Karnataka was the worst affected.

KCR'S PLANS TO TACKLE A RISING BJP IN TELANGANA

The rude jolt the TRS received in the recent Greater Hyderabad Municipal Corporation (GHMC) elections seems to have brought Chief Minister K Chandrashekar Rao back to the drawing board to plan new strategies to stop the onward march of the BJP. One of the prongs of his graduated counterattack on the ruling NDA at the Centre led by Prime Minister Narendra Modi is to throw his weight behind the agitating Punjab farmers, who are demanding the repeal of three contentious new farm sector laws that were rushed through at the speed of light—by parliamentary standards. Attack, as they say, is the best form of defence. More so against a BJP that is emerging as a formidable force that can simply not be wished away.

Time was when KCR had the comfort of a non-existent opposition, as he successfully inflicted a death by thousand cuts on the state unit of the Congress. That's history. By and by, the BJP is occupying the space vacated by the grand old party. A couple of days before the GHMC polls, KCR gave a veiled warning to the BJP while addressing a public meeting that he would have to play Delhi politics if they continued to indulge in galli (local) politics, implying forging an anti-BJP front at the national level. In jest, he also wondered why so many BJP heavyweights were landing in Hyderabad to take on a CM who was essentially skinny. The underlying message of course was that he is stronger than all the BJP leaders put together.

KCR's fear of reverses in the GHMC polls came true when the BJP delivered an iron-fisted punch on the TRS and is now getting ready to expand its sphere of influence in the next Assembly elections in 2023. The TRS' immediate goal is to win the elections to two graduate seats in the Legislative Council, polls to Warangal and Khammam municipal corporations, and the by-election for the Nagarjuna Sagar Assembly seat. To paint the BJP as the primary adversary, KCR has already distanced his party from it, keen as he is on shedding the earlier image of going soft on the Centre. The saffron party in Telangana is no longer a toy he can play with.

TAPPING THE DESIRE FOR CHANGE IN TN

Almost a quarter of a century after he first dangled a foot in Tamil politics and three years after announcing his intention to launch a party, superstar Rajinikanth finally set a date last week. With an assurance to launch his party in January and contest in the 2021 Assembly polls, the 69-year-old actor threatens to unsettle the plans of the Dravidian majors.

Although he has yet to elaborate on his party's viewpoints, so far it appears that it would be at odds with Dravidian ideology. While his proximity to several BJP figures, appointment of an ex-BJP man as a key functionary and fulsome praise for several NDA moves have contributed to an accusation of being a saffron stooge, Rajini has also stressed on providing a secular alternative. While at this juncture it is unlikely that Rajini—if he contests the polls alone—will be able to win enough seats to form a government, he does have the potential to play spoiler or kingmaker. With the 2021 polls shaping into a multi-cornered race, small parties, including Rajini's, will split votes. A Dravidian major is still likely to win but a deciding factor will probably be the clever stitching together of alliances. Of course, the actor's own prospects are heavily reliant on whether he contests the elections and leads the party as its chief ministerial candidate. Earlier this year, he made it clear that he had no plan to do either. His cadre are hoping he changes his mind, else they will have a harder sell to make just months before the polls.

In the context of Tamil politics, Rajini may offer an alternative to the Dravidian ideology that has dominated the state since the 1960s. While its critics have accused the Dravidian parties of corruption and the movement of separatism and antipathy towards religions, it cannot be denied that the state has benefited from the social justice platform borne of the movement. Yet, it also cannot be denied that a desire for change too exists. How Rajini navigates this dichotomy will determine the trajectory of his political career and perhaps even Tamil Nadu's future.

The spirit of democracy was always part of the Indian ethos. The people of ancient India not only knew about the system but also practised it in one way or another

DEMOCRACY AS THE DNA OF OUR COUNTRY

VINAY SAHASRABUDDHE

President, ICCR, and BJP Rajya Sabha MP

AMIT BANDRE

It is a happy coincidence that when Prime Minister Narendra Modi is performing Bhoomi Pujan for the New Parliament Building Complex in the cational capital, we as a nation are celebrating the 100th anniversary of the conduct of the first elections in India. It may be noted that the first general elections were held in British India in 1920 to elect members to what was called the Imperial Legislative Council and the Provincial Councils. They were the first polls in the country's modern history. The new Central Legislative Assembly, which was the lower chamber of the Imperial Legislative Council, was based in Delhi; it had 104 elected seats, of which 66 were contested and 38 were reserved for Europeans elected through the Chambers of Commerce.

Interestingly, women in British India got equal franchise a little before their British counterparts. Historical records suggest that between 1919 and 1929, all of the British provinces as well as most of the princely states granted women the right to vote and in some cases, allowed them to contest local elections. Again, notably, the Gangotri of universal suffrage in modern India happens to be in Gujarat. It was Rajkot State that granted full universal suffrage in 1923!

Years ago, when I had the occasion of interacting with a few renowned researchers in democracy at a US university, I was aghast by the way they were rating Indian democracy. In that year, some two decades ago, they had rated Indian democracy below that of the system in Haiti. When asked, a researcher-academic told me: "We rate it below because you have had the draconian rule of Emergency a few decades before!" I was taken aback by this response and that prompted me to elaborately explain how democracy is a part of India's DNA and never in the past was any ruler able to impose an authoritarian rule for a long period all over the country.

Seen in this backdrop, although tragic, it may not be surprising to note that the global discourse about democracy has been largely oblivious to the democratic traditions ingrained in Indian culture.

This ignorance of foreigners notwithstanding, the fact remains that a democratic spirit was always part of the Indian ethos. One of the principal reasons for the survival of the Indian civilisation is the theoretical foundation of this spirit, which could easily be traced back to our long history of sustainable pluralism and spiritual democracy. At no point of time in India's history was the concept of a theocratic state a part of our ethos. There are several instances of Hindu kings large-heartedly welcoming visitors and traders from across the seas and ensuring that they enjoy complete freedom of worship. With notions such as ekam sat vipra bahuda vadanti (the truth is one, but knowledgeable and wise persons interpret the same differently) firmly rooted in the essentially Hindu ethos, no foreigner belonging to an alien way of worship ever faced any discrimination here.

Undoubtedly, democracy in India has evolved with the spirit of accommodation as its central pillar. As a consequence, a democratic approach that negates monopolist or hegemonic tendencies has remained a part of the popular and hence, the political culture of India. Renowned political scientist Robert A Dahl, in fact, emphatically endorses this reality when he says that democracy is the 'national ideology of India'. It is a well-known and widely accepted fact that the people of ancient India not only knew about democracy but also practised it in one way or another. Ancient Indian scriptures such as Aitareya Brahmana are replete with references suggesting that apart from monarchy, republics too existed in India in the 4th century BCE. In fact, Dr B R Ambedkar had once famously observed, "There was a time when India was studded with republics and even where there were monarchies, they were either elected or limited. They were never absolute." Historian and scholar Steve Muhlberger has pointed out: "By the time of Panini (5th century BCE), there was a terminology for the process of corporate decision-making. Panini gives us the terms for vote, decisions reached by voting and the completion of a quorum."

Choosing leaders or rulers by voting was prevalent in India for several centuries. Janapadas and Mahajanapadas existed some 2,500 years ago and there are instances where, in the past, some of the rajas were also chosen by the janas or the people. Many Buddhist scholars have also pointed out as to how rules of parliamentary procedures were applied by the Buddha to the meetings of the sanghas during his lifetime.

While all these are historical facts, it is also true that India needs to be more vocal about this history of democracy at the local level! These days, to be democratic is not enough; one has to articulately engage in advocacy of democracy. India can do so effectively on the global platforms in three ways. Firstly, by playing a bigger role in the United Nations' Democracy Fund, an organisation of which our nation is a prime donor. Secondly, India, with its successful handling of multi-party democracy, should also try and contribute in political party building in new and emerging democracies. Thirdly, India should take the lead and cultivate concepts like development democracy and provide leadership to developing countries from amongst the democratic nations.

HOW AN AUSTRALIAN MUSEUM IGNORES OBVIOUS RED FLAGS

S VIJAY KUMAR

Co-Founder, India Pride Project and Author of The Idol Thief

What fuels the illicit trade in Indian antiquities? As we have seen in the previous columns, it's a demand-driven trade and today we are going to have a closer look at another important factor that is impoverishing source nations of their cultural heritage—unregulated museum purchases.

Traditionally you would expect museums, that too public-funded national museums, to have stringent policies for acquisitions and purchases as compared to a buccaneering private collector—as they have an obligation to the taxpayer and donors to ensure their monies are spent properly.

But the case of the National Gallery of Australia (NGA) is a shocker. The museum has often ignored very clear red flags and done little to no due diligence when buying cultural treasures. A few token photo-op restitutions cannot undo the damage on the ground. The cases of the stolen "Dancing Shiva" aka the Sripuranthan Nataraja and the Vriddhachalam Ardhanarishwara—purchases of the NGA and the Art Gallery of New South Wales (AGNSW) totalling $5 million—both stolen purchases since restituted to India—should have been wake-up calls for Australian museums. But were they?

The Australian government on its part has released amongst others a "Best Practice Guide to Collecting Cultural Material" in 2014. The NGA released its own "Due Diligence report" in 2014 and then sought out an independent review of its Asian art provenance project in 2015, by the Honourable Susan Crennan AC, former Justice of the High Court of Australia.

However, despite all the above, in the seven years since the scandal first broke, Australian museums including the Art Gallery of South Australia (AGSA) have been continually exposed and the main reasons for this are the failure to address the foundational problems of optical due diligence and more importantly, the lack of accountability.

What exactly are provenance and due diligence? The Australian Best Practice Guide says: "Provenance includes the full history and chain of ownership of an object from the time of its discovery or creation to the present day, through which authenticity and legal title are determined"; "Due diligence requires that every endeavour is made to verify the accuracy of information before deciding a course of action, particularly in identifying the source and history of cultural material considered for acquisition. Due diligence may include verifying the authenticity of an object, legal title, condition, value for money, integrity of its history, source and vendor."

The Crennan report only covers 36 objects in the collection acquired by the NGA over the period 1968 to 2013 and was tabled just after the return of the Sripuranthan Nataraja and Vriddhachalam Ardhanarishwara. It opens with: "As will emerge, none of the other objects purchased by the NGA from (the arrested Subhash Kapoor's gallery) Art of the Past are in exactly the same position as the Shiva but, where some common circumstances exist, concerns over provenance have been heightened and given priority."

Since the above report was published in 2015, Australia has restituted to India six more artefacts totalling about $3 million—the Vriddhachlam Pratyangira, Kushan Buddha, two door guardians, Nagaraja, Worshippers of Buddha (all from the NGA); and the AGSA returned the Kulasekaram Nataraja.

Why would that happen—did new evidence come up? Yes and no: The presence of robber-offering photos for many of the objects were exposed way back in 2013 but new evidence came up—some in-situ photographs of the idols were found along with more incriminating documents, all solidifying the case of the fake provenances.

But the case in point is that even a cursory glance at the provenance files of the idols throws up clear red flags. Most of the NGA purchases from Kapoor's Art of the Past—including the Sripuranthan Nataraja and Vriddhachalam Ardhanarishwara that were returned—have the following names in the forged ownership chain details.

Abdullah Mehgoob and wife Raj Mehgoob: Abdullah apparently had worked for the UN, as a former member of the Sudanese diplomatic service. Their relation to Selina Mohamed is not known but the Vriddhachlam Pratyangira was shown as gifted to her by Abdullah.

The second family group is Rajpathi Singh Mohamed, wife Insaan Mohamed and daughter Selina. Selina was Kapoor's girlfriend; she was charged in New York with four counts of possession of stolen property and one count of conspiracy. Particulars alleged against her included preparation of false provenance documents. After being charged in December 2013, Selina subsequently reached a plea agreement to plead guilty to a misdemeanour charge of conspiracy in the fifth degree. In March 2015, she was given a one-year conditional release.

Another is Dalhousie enterprises connected to the 'Worshippers of Buddha' icon (from Chandavaram). Dalhousie enterprises is an art dealership run by Paramspry Ponnusamy, who was, for 10 years, an associate and girlfriend of Subhash Kapoor and was involved in a legal dispute with him in 2010.

Six of the eight restitutions of stolen sculptures from the NGA are linked to the above names. Nevertheless, a further five idols linked to them are still held by the NGA despite overwhelming and damning evidence that the provenances are glaringly fake! This, even though the persons named have been charged in US courts for fabricating false provenances.

The NGA also paid the highest prices for any of the Kapoor objects. So, were the museum staff fooled by a neat operator or is there a fundamental problem? The evidence on hand shows that other museums were more diligent.

As we shall see in the next article with specific examples, the NGA shockingly paid multiple times over the market price for many of its purchases. These have invariably led to inflating prices of unprovenanced and stolen antiquities leading to a spurt in robbing, stealing and plunder back home in 'source countries' like India.

(The India Pride Project's #BringOurGodsHome initiative has helped bring many stolen idols back to our country)

Must be accommodative

The farmers' agitation against the new agricultural laws is getting worse day by day due to the lack of understanding on the part of some about the policy's features. Both parties must be accommodative so that grievances are addressed.

Failed to take ally along

The farmers' agitations have proved to be one of the hardest nuts for the Centre to crack. One drawback was that it failed to take its longtime ally, the Shiromani Akali Dal, into confidence.

Take complaint seriously

The complaint by Swapna Suresh, key accused in the gold smuggling case, that her life is in danger as the jail officials are threatening her against revealing names of bigwigs must be taken seriously. Additional private secretary C M Raveendran is still evading the ED's repeated summons.

As long as the LDF is in power in Kerala, the ED will not be able to question Raveendran. If he is questioned, a Pandora's box of big names will be opened.

The recommendation of the US Commission on International Religious Freedom (USCIRF) to designate India as a country of particular concern was ill-advised. The US state department made the right decision in rejecting this.

The USCIRF's recommendation being rejected is welcome. It has always been biased against India, labelling some communal skirmishes as 'minorities under increasing assault', a huge exaggeration.

'Kamala Harris as VP will excite a lot of people, but make some apprehensive'

AMERICA electing a woman of colour as its vice-president will definitely excite many people, but there will be some who will be apprehensive, just as they were during former president Barack Obama's tenure, said Indian-American journalist and author Fareed Zakaria in conversation with senior journalist Kaveree Bamzai at TNIE Expressions, a series of live webcasts with people who matter.

There is no doubt that Hillary Clinton faced some degree of opposition just because she was a woman, said Zakaria. "You can see this in the vote for (Joe) Biden. He gets a certain number of white suburban voters who didn't vote for Hillary. Clearly, something was going on there. The truth is, Kamala Harris has not cut a very large figure on the American stage, but I don't think it is her fault — we've had a pandemic. Normally, you assert yourself by travelling around the country with a lot of media — all that has been curtailed. It is fair to say that she hasn't had an impact yet," he added. "I think it will all change as we are approaching the post-pandemic world with the vaccines. And once that reality of a female vice-president, a woman of colour, is asserted, I think it will excite a lot of people. But what the Obama case shows is that there will be other people who will be apprehensive," said the host of CNN's Fareed Zakaria GPS.

What Biden's cabinet largely represents is that running a government is hard; it's important, that people of competence and experience matter, said Zakaria. "You don't choose someone you met at a cocktail party or somebody you think looks good or somebody you heard defending you on television — this is how Trump would literally choose his cabinet. Biden is picking low-key people who have a lot of experience in governance. The same is true in India. It is very hard to get the government right," he said.

Talking about Kamala Harris and her Indian connection, Zakaria said Harris is regarded more as a Black American than an Indian-American. "But the truth is that she has both identities and that's part of the reality of America today. You have these mixed, multiple identities and she can emphasise one or the other depending on where she is."

The debate about whether Trumpism will leave America as Trump leaves the White House has been raging for quite some time. "The way I would put it is, Trump was never personally very popular. There was a part of the country that was crazily devoted to him. But his average approval rating is among the lowest since the late 1940s. But he became a tribune for a certain group of people who feel disposed, who feel as though the world is leaving them behind," said Zakaria.

Commenting on the way countries dealt with the coronavirus pandemic, he said it was nothing short of a tragedy. "It has been badly conceived, badly executed and as a result, India may have the worst economic fallout from Covid-19 in the world," Zakaria said.

Farmer family forgoes shagun for a cause

CHANDIGARH: Showing their solidarity with the farm protest, a farmer's family in Sheikhu village of Punjab's Muktsar district did not take any 'shagun' at the wedding of their son from the guests and instead placed a donation box at the reception asking them to donate money for the famers protesting at the Singhu and Tikri borders of Delhi.

"We placed a donation box next to the dance floor at the reception ceremony of my nephew Abhijeet Singh, which was held on December 7, and requested the guests to donate for the farmers who were fighting to save our future generations instead of giving shagun," said Jasdeep Singh Brar, the village sarpanch. "We've collected about ₹1 lakh and will go to the Delhi borders in a day or two and buy the items needed by the protesters."

"Punjab's Finance Minister Manpreet Singh Badal and Deputy Speaker Ajaib Singh Bhatti who attended the wedding gave us shagun but we put in the donation box. We have 50 acres of land and we are also commission agents. This is the least which we can contribute towards our farmer brothers," Brar added.

A video of the reception has gone viral on social media. In the clip, the DJ is heard appealing to the guests to put the shagun amount in the donation box.

Oppn meets Prez, seeks repeal of laws

Allege that govt ignored oppn suggestions and rushed farms Bills in Parliament, is now trying to intimidate farmers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AMID hardening of stance by farmer unions, a joint delegation of opposition parties met President Ram Nath Kovind on Wednesday evening and sought revocation of the new farm laws. The delegation demanded that the President intervene and direct the Centre to accept the demands of the protesting farmers.

The five political leaders included Congress's Rahul Gandhi, CPI-M's Sitaram Yechury, CPI's D. Raja, NCP's Sharad Pawar and DMK's TKS Elangovan. They claimed the support of at least 20 different parties.

"We informed the President that it is absolutely critical that these anti-farmer laws are withdrawn. These laws are against farmers who are on a non-violent protest against the three new laws," said Gandhi after the meeting.

Opposition leaders accused the government of trying to scare away the protesting farmers. "If the farm laws are for the benefit of farmers, then Prime Minister Narendra Modi should explain why they are protesting. These laws would not benefit the farmers," said the former Congress chief.

Pawar said it was the government's duty to resolve the deadlock. During discussions in Parliament on the new farm laws, all parties had requested that these should be sent to a select committee. "No suggestion was accepted and the Bills were passed in a hurry," said Pawar, adding the parties have requested the President that these laws should be repealed.

Yechury said, "We told the President that the three farm laws were passed undemocratically in Parliament. We have sought to repeal these laws."

The opposition delegation was limited to five because of the COVID-19 situation.

The Opposition leaders submitted a memorandum which said, "These new agriculture laws, passed in Parliament in an anti-democratic manner preventing a structured discussion and voting, threaten India's food security, destroy Indian agriculture and our farmers, lay the basis for the abolishment of the Minimum Support Price (MSP) and mortgage Indian agriculture and our markets to the caprices of multinational agri-business corporates and domestic corporates."

'TALKS WITH FARMERS WORK IN PROGRESS'

Union I&B Minister Prakash Javadekar on Wednesday said the government was sensitive towards the concerns of farmers and expressed hope that ongoing deliberations with them will yield some results soon. He said the government has held several rounds of talks with the farmers and is keen to resolve their issues. "When the talks and negotiations are taking place, it is considered a work in progress. There is no running commentary on any such work in progress," he said. "The government has discussed the concerns raised by farmers... and wants to resolve the issues...This is a work in progress, (and) hopefully (it is) in the last stage," he said.

'ONLY MANAGE STORAGE OF GRAINS FOR FCI'

With its name echoing in the farmer protests, Adani Group has said it neither buys foodgrains from farmers nor decides their pricing. The port-to-energy conglomerate said it only develops and operates grain silos for Food Corporation of India (FCI). "The company has no role in deciding the volume of storage as well as pricing of grain as it only a service/ infrastructure provider for the FCI," it said in a twitter statement. FCI buys foodgrains from farmers and stores them in silos. While private players are paid a fee for building and storing the foodgrains, the ownership of the commodity and its marketing and distribution rights belong to FCI.

ASSURANCE ON MSP SHOULD SATISFY FARMERS: EXPERTS

KUMAR VIKRAM @New Delhi

EVEN as the government's proposed amendments to the agri laws along with an assurance on MSP, submitted in writing, failed to satisfy the protesting farmer unions, experts said the government had tried to accommodate some of the key demands made by them.

Agriculture economist Devinder Sharma said it was quite a climbdown. "The government has tried to accommodate some of the important demands of farmers like subsidy on electricity bills and other things. But, a loud noise from this farmers' movement was actually for an assured income. Over the years, the farmers have suffered losses. Therefore, they demanded legalising the MSP across the 23 crops for which the MSP is announced every year. This has still not been fulfilled. I am sure the farmers basically would be more concerned about this."

Referring to Shanta Kumar Committee report, Sharma said, "According to the committee, only 6% farmers in the country benefit from MSP regime. The government has given an assurance on MSP, but it's only for the 6%. What about remaining 94% farmers? How will they get price assurance? That is the bigger question."

The main objective of the reforms was higher income. If the government is ready to assure higher income, then what is the issue in legalising the MSP? Sharma added.

Former agriculture secretary S K Patnaik said, "All the amendments (proposed) are good, but what they want is written assurance on MSP. The government has been procuring foodgrains for PDS distribution at MSP and it will be done in future as well. Fruit, vegetables and other horticulture crops are sold outside the mandis... I think the farmers should be satisfied."

Explaining further, Patnaik said, "Government procurement at MSP for PDS is good and it should continue. But, if we start applying MSP system on everything, then prices will not be competitive and may hamper exports."

No posters outside Covid patients' homes, says Supreme Court

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday a sought detailed response from the Centre as well as states on issues ranging from adhering to Covid-19 guidelines on wearing of face masks and social distancing norms to implementation of fire safety guidelines in hospitals and nursing homes across India. The top court was hearing a suo motu case to ensure proper treatment of Covid patients.

IN THE SC

In a separate matter, a bench headed by Justice Ashok Bhushan took note of the Centre's guidelines and asked states and Union Territories not to affix posters and signages outside homes of Covid-19 patients. Such posters can be affixed only in specific cases when the competent authority issues specific directions under the Disaster Management Act, the bench said.

The SC passed the order while disposing of a plea seeking directions to do away with the practice of pasting posters outside homes of Covid patients. The bench said the Centre has already issued guidelines in this regard.

Alarming levels of hunger even post-lockdown

Lower income groups hit hardest by lack of nutrition

The profile of the respondents showed 79% had income less than ₹7,000 per month before the lockdown, and 41% earned less than ₹3,000 per month before the lockdown. Around 59% of the respondents were Dalits/ adivasis, 23% were OBCs and over 50% were women.

THE hunger situation remains grave among the marginalised and vulnerable communities even five months after the lockdown has ended, with a large number of families going to bed without food, showed a 'Hunger Watch' survey conducted across 11 states.

POLL HEAT ON RISE

'Mamata a byword for intolerance'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

BJP chief JP Nadda on Wednesday held Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee responsible for the rising violence in the state and exuded confidence in his party overthrowing the Trinamool Congress in the next year's Assembly polls by bagging more than 200 of the 294 seats.

"Mamata Banerjee is a byword for intolerance. The 'lotus' will bloom in the 2021 elections and we will dethrone her government. While the BJP runs its affairs through its office, others run their organisations from home," said Nadda while addressing party workers at the BJP's Hastings office.

Nadda landed in Kolkata to oversee the party's outreach plans in Mamata's Assembly constituency Bhawanipore and her nephew Abhishek Banerjee's Diamond Harbour Lok Sabha constituency during his two-day visit under the banner 'Aar Noy Onnay (no more injustice)'.

He virtually inaugurated eight party offices and an election management room in the party office. Nadda was shown black flags when he arrived at the Hastings office by a group of people who demanded withdrawal of new farm laws without displaying flags of any political party.

He accused the Trinamool government of minority appeasement. "When the country was watching the 'bhoomi pujan' (of Ram temple in Ayodhya), Mamata imposed a lockdown on August 5 to prevent people from being part of the occasion. In a sharp contrast, lockdown was withdrawn for Eid on July 31. We don't have any problem with that, but why was the puja stopped on August 5?" he asked.

Referring to political killings in the state, Nadda said more than 130 BJP workers have been "martyred".

Won't implement NRC, NPR: Didi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

CHIEF MINISTER Mamata Banerjee has said she won't allow the Centre to implement the National Register of Citizens and the National Population Register in West Bengal.

"I will not allow the BJP to convert Bengal into Gujarat. They are trying to drive people out from Bengal. I will not allow NRC and NPR in Bengal. The state government will decide who will live here," she said while addressing a rally in Bongaon, North 24 Parganas, the Lok Sabha constituency with a large number of Hindu refugees.

Mamata Banerjee, Chief Minister, West Bengal

Targeting the Matua community votes, Mamata accused the BJP of lying and making false promises before the elections. The Matua community comprises Hindu migrants from Bangladesh. The saffron camp has made inroads in Matua areas. The BJP bagged both Bongaon and Ranaghat Lok Sabha seats with the support of the refugees who formed more than 55 per cent of total electorate. Its impressive performance is said to be attributed to the party's promises to offer citizenship to these refugees by implementing the Citizenship (Amendment) Act (CAA).

"I took all the responsibilities of Boro Maa's treatment. I have set up a development board for Matuas with a fund of ₹10 crore. A university exclusively for the sect is under construction. The BJP makes false promises. I am not like them... I keep my words," said Mamata.

Boro Maa was a matriarch of the Matua Mahasangha, a Hindu religious reformation movement.

Referring to BJP's national leaders' Bengal visits ahead of the Assembly polls, Mamata described the saffron camp's central leaders as hooligans.

DDC polls turnout up in Jammu, down in Kashmir

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

IN the first 4 phases of the eight-phase District Development Council (DDC) polls in Jammu and Kashmir, the voter turnout in Jammu region has been increasing with each phase while in militancy-hit Valley the poll percentage has dropped after the first phase.

The DDC polls is the first major electoral exercise in J&K after scrapping of Article 370 and bifurcation of J&K state into two Union Territories (UTs) — Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh — by the Centre on August 5 last year.

The voter turnout in militancy-hit Valley was 40.55 per cent in the first phase and it dropped to 33.34 per cent in the second phase. The poll percentage further dropped to 31.61 per cent in the third phase and the 4th phase recorded 31.95 per cent voting.

In contrast, Jammu region has witnessed heavy voter turnout and the poll percentage has been increasing with every phase. In the first phase of polling, Jammu region recorded 64.2 per cent turnout. The polling percentage increased to 65.54 per cent in the second phase, third phase recorded 68.88 per cent voting and 4th phase 69.31 per cent turnout.

BJP trumps faction-ridden Congress in Raj local polls

Cites victory as vindication of its stance favouring the new farm laws

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

THE faction-ridden ruling Congress in Rajasthan was jolted in the local zila parishad polls, losing most of the 21 districts that voted.

In the panchayat samiti and zila parishad polls held in four rounds in late November and early December, 21 of the total 33 districts in the state voted.

In a stark contrast to the trend of the ruling party in a state dominating local elections, the opposition BJP has done better. In the zila parishads or district-level boards, it won 353 seats, compared to 252 of the Congress. In panchayat samitis or block-level boards in villages, the BJP gained an edge winning 1,989 seats in 222 samitis where voting took place while the Congress managed only 1,852 seats. Independents also won in large numbers, winning 439 panchayat samiti seats and 18 zila parishad seats.

The results came amid the BJP-led Centre battling a massive farmer protest. The saffron party was quick to claim that the Rajasthan results as well as its recent electoral victories were a vindication of the party's stand on farm laws. "We are grateful to rural voters, farmers and women who have reposed their faith in us in Rajasthan's panchayati raj and zila parishad polls," tweeted BJP chief JP Nadda.

Union Minister Prakash Javadekar said that the victory showed that the people of Rajasthan are with the BJP. "Not only Rajasthan, the results in Bihar, Telangana, Arunachal Pradesh, show that the entire nation is happy with the BJP and its reforms. Despite the Opposition attack on farm reforms, people are supporting the party and PM Modi," he said.

Congress leaders attribute the party's defeat to fissures in the state unit, especially the feud between Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot and Sachin Pilot, whose revolt in July had nearly brought down the Congress government.

After Pilot was replaced by GS Dotasara as the state Congress chief, the party's organisational structure was disbanded in most districts. It was this lack of an effective organisational structure at district and panchayat levels which is reflected in the party's poor performance. The Congress lost in the home turf of its stalwarts such as Pilot and Dotasara and many ministers such as Ashok Chandana, Raghu Sharma, Udaylal Anjana and Sukhram Vishnoi. These polls also reflect the growth of new parties such as the RLP and BTP.

INSIDE TROUBLE

BJP censures Biplab's plan for big rally

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE BJP on Wednesday stepped in to stop Tripura Chief Minister Biplab Kumar Deb from making a public show of his support among the people in the face of rebellion within the state unit of the party. The chief minister had planned a public meeting on December 13 in a show of strength in the face of mounting dissension against his "style of functioning" from a section of state legislators.

The BJP state unit incharge and Lok Sabha MP, Vijay Sonkar, is learnt to have advised the chief minister against indulging in public show of strength on an intra-party issue. BJP chief JP Nadda is also learnt to have taken a grim view of the move.

While the BJP had expanded the party's base in the state by encouraging induction of leaders from the ranks of Trinamool Congress and Left parties, Deb in recent months apparently began facing opposition over his "one-upmanship". While a few of the state legislators had camped in the national capital recently, they had failed to get audience from the top leadership.

For BJP the Tripura victory was a matter of pride because the saffron outfit wrested power in the Left bastion.

Affidavit lists info on illegal immigrants in NRC

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

AN affidavit reportedly containing the details of illegal immigrants who had made it to the final list of National Register of Citizens (NRC) has been submitted to the Gauhati High Court by the NRC authority.

The names of these persons were erroneously entered into NRC final list, published on August 31 last year. Over 19 lakh of the 3.3 crore applicants had missed the NRC bus.

NRC State Coordinator Hitesh Dev Sarma confirmed that the affidavit was submitted in the court but he refused to share further details. According to unverified reports, the affidavit contained the details of around 4,800 illegal immigrants.

The Assam Public Works (APW), based on whose petition the NRC of 1951 was updated, said the affidavit filed in the court reconfirmed what it was saying all along. It claimed the final NRC list had the names of some 80 lakh foreigners.

"We want this NRC list to be rejected, for some 80 lakh illegal immigrants were included in it. We demand complete reverification of the NRC documents," APW chief Abhijit Sarma said.

The Assam government favours 20 per cent re-verification of the documents in districts which share a border with Bangladesh and 10 per cent reverification elsewhere.

In February this year, the NRC authority had written to all district magistrates and district registrars of citizen registration, seeking details of ineligible people — doubtful voters, declared foreigners, people whose cases pending in foreigners' tribunal, doubtful voters' descendants etc — who might have made it to the NRC.

Dalit youth beaten to death for touching food

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

A mentally challenged Dalit youth was allegedly beaten to death by two other backward caste (OBC) friends for touching their food at a private party in Chhatarpur district of Madhya Pradesh.

The shocking incident happened in Kishanpura village under Gourihar police station area on December 7. The 20-year-old mentally challenged Dalit youth, identified as Devraj Anuragi, was having food at his house, when his two friends Santosh Pal and Rohit Soni took him for a private party at their agricultural plot. A couple of hours later, Devraj was dropped at his house by the duo, but a short while later he died allegedly due to wounds inflicted on him by his two friends.

"In a complaint registered with the police, the deceased youth's family alleged that before breathing last, Devraj told them that he and his two friends were partying, where he touched their food. Enraged over it, the two friends assaulted him with hard and blunt objects," Chhatarpur SP Sachin Sharma said on Wednesday.

"Special teams have been formed to track and nab the two absconding accused, who have been booked for murder. We hope to arrest them by tonight," said Sharma.

It's not the first case of killing of a Dalit by OBC men in the state. Ten days back, a 50-year-old Dalit man was thrashed to death by two Yadav men. A few days earlier a Dalit family was allegedly forced to leave their village in Shivpuri due to torture by a OBC family over not voting for BJP in recent bypolls.

Boeing 737 Max returns to skies in Brazil 20 months after grounding

ABOARD A BOEING 737 MAX

Over 20 months after it was grounded following two deadly crashes, Boeing's 737 MAX returned to the skies Wednesday with an incident-free commercial flight in Brazil, said AFP journalists on board.

Low-cost airline Gol's Flight 4104 from Sao Paulo arrived safely in the southern city of Porto Alegre about 70 minutes after take-off using the revamped jet, in a first that Boeing hopes will turn the page on a badly damaging crisis in the wake of the twin crashes.

Most travelers aboard the 88-percent booked plane, which had a capacity of 186 passengers, took little notice of the model number painted on its nose.

Gol's crew for their part made no mention of the fact that it was the first commercial flight for the 737 MAX since its worldwide grounding in March 2019. "I thought it was a good flight," said passenger Naiara Providello before disembarking to the soothing sounds of Brazilian bossa nova music.

"I didn't know the plane's history. I think maybe they should have informed us. But it was a good flight."

Gol said it was fully confident in the safety upgrades and expanded pilot training program implemented by Boeing as part of aviation regulators' conditions to recertify the plane. "For the past 20 months, we have been carrying out the most intensive safety review in the history of commercial aviation," Gol's vice president for operations, Celso Ferrer, said in a statement.

A Gol spokesman told AFP that any passenger who did not feel comfortable flying on the 737 MAX would be allowed to reschedule at no cost for up to 12 months from the date of purchase. "Exceptional situations will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis," he said.

Gol, the biggest domestic airline in Brazil, said it expected to have its full fleet of seven 737 MAX planes back in the air by the end of the year. The airline is betting big on Boeing's recovery: it has also confirmed 95 firm orders for the 737 MAX, in addition to 20 more already in the US awaiting delivery. AFP

NO PM CAN ACCEPT TERMS OFFERED BY EU, SAYS JOHNSON

UK & EU have just few hours over a meal to finalise a post-Brexit trade agreement

BRUSSELS

THE leaders of Britain and the European Union were meeting Wednesday for a dinner that could pave the way to a post-Brexit trade deal — or tip the two sides toward a chaotic economic rupture at the end of the month.

Early-morning comments from both sides insisting that it was for the other to compromise only highlighted the difficult task ahead for UK Prime Minister Boris Johnson and European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen. They have just a few hours over a multi-course meal to unstick negotiations that are deadlocked on key aspects of the future relationship for the EU and Britain.

Johnson's press secretary, Allegra Stratton, said the prime minister and von der Leyen "both believe that there needs to be some political momentum now." Johnson's office said that if the two leaders agree, their chief negotiators — who will both attend Wednesday's dinner — could resume talks on a final deal.

But the two sides gave ominously opposing views of the main sticking points — and each insisted the other must move to reach agreement.

"A good deal is still there to be done," Johnson insisted. But he told lawmakers in the House of Commons that the bloc's demands that the UK continue to adhere to its standards or face retaliation were not "terms that any prime minister of this country should accept."

German Chancellor Angela Merkel said "there is still the chance of an agreement," but stressed that the EU would not compromise on its core principles. Merkel told the German parliament that the bloc would "take a path without an ... agreement if there are conditions from the British side that we can't accept."

While both sides want a deal, they have fundamentally different views of what it entails. The EU fears Britain will slash social and environmental standards and pump state money into U.K. industries, becoming a low-regulation economic rival on the bloc's doorstep — hence the demand for strict "level playing field" guarantees in exchange for access to its markets. Merkel said "the integrity of the single market must be preserved." AP

Cabinet approves ₹23K cr job creation scheme

The Atmanirbhar Bharat Rojgar Yojana scheme is expected to benefit 58.5 lakh employees over the next 2 years

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Union Cabinet on Wednesday approved the employment generation scheme — Atma Nirbhar Bharat Rozgar Yojana —which was announced earlier by Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman to boost employment in the formal sector.

The scheme, which proposes to provide employees' provident fund (EPF) to those hiring additional workforce for two years, will cost the government ₹22,810 crore. It is expected to benefit around 58.5 lakh employees, said Union Minister Santosh Kumar Gangwar, while briefing the media after the meeting.

The registration for the scheme will be effective from October 1, 2020 to June 30, 2021. The Centre will pay both 12 per cent employees' contribution as well as 12 per cent employers' contribution, which will contribute about 24 per cent of wages towards EPF in respect of new employees in establishments employing up to 1,000 employees for two years.

However, it will pay only employees' share of EPF contribution at 12 per cent of wages in respect of new employees in establishments employing more than 1000 employees for a period of two years.

Even the take home salary of formal workers drawing a monthly wage of up to ₹15,000, who did not have a Universal Account Number or was not working in any establishment registered with the Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO) prior to October 1, will go up. Any employee who remained jobless from March 1 to September 30, will also be eligible to avail the benefit.

> The Employees' Provident Fund Organisation will credit the contribution in Aadhaar seeded account of members in electronic manner. EPFO will also develop a transparent procedure
>
> Official statement

To avail the scheme, firms with up to 50 employees will have to add a minimum of two new employees and those with more than 50 staff, will have to give a minimum of five new jobs. For the current financial year, the scheme announced under Atmanirbhar Bharat stimulus package 3.0, will cost ₹1,584 crore.

"EPFO will credit the contribution in Aadhaar seeded account of members in electronic manner," a government statement stated. Besides, it will work out modality to ensure the scheme is implemented in a transparent manner and there is no overlapping of benefits under this scheme with any other schemes implemented by EPFO.

FRESH AID TO BENEFIT MSMEs

One of the most promising aspect of this announcement is that states like Bihar, UP Madhya Pradesh and Rajasthan, which are the home states for majority migrant population, will benefit from the scheme as it will boost small industries in these states to hire fresh and affected workers to scale their business, said Prashant Singh, VP and Business Head – CPO, TeamLease Services.

Nod for setting up of public Wi-Fi networks sans license

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Union Cabinet gave its stamp of approval to a scheme that will involve the setting up of public Wi-Fi networks across the country by local shops and other establishments without the need for any licence from, or payments to, the government. The move follows a recommendation by telecom regulator TRAI in May this year to set up millions of interoperable Wi-Fi nodes, which would result in widening internet access across the country.

The scheme announced Tuesday is to be called PM-WANI (Public Wi-Fi Access Network Interface) and will allow a wide variety of people to set up such Wi-Fi networks.

According to a statement from the Union Cabinet, these public Wi-Fi networks will be set up with an architecture involving multiple players-Public Data Offices (PDO), Public Data Office Aggregators, and app providers. "No licence, no registration, and no fee would be applicable for the PDOs, which could be small shops or even Common Service Centres," said Union communications minister Ravi Shankar Prasad after the meeting.

Under the scheme, PDOs will establish, maintain, and operate Wi-Fi access points that deliver broadband services to subscribers, while PDOAs will aggregate PDOs and perform functions related to authorisation and accounting. The App provider, meanwhile, will be responsible for developing the applications that will onboard users and discover WANI-compliant hotspots in an area.

A central registry maintained by C-DoT will track the details of app providers, PDOAs, and PDOs. According to the Centre, no registration would be required for PDOs, while PDOAs and app providers will require to be registered with the DoT, but without any fee. This is expected to be more business-friendly and in line with efforts for ease of doing business.

Tatas counters SPG's mismanaged allegations, grills jump in valuation

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Shapoorji Pallonji Group's (SP Group) ₹1.75 lakh crore stake in Tata Group was once again contested in the Supreme Court on Wednesday. This time, the Tata's digged the claims made by the Mistrys with regards to the wide mismanagement in the company.

Senior counsel Harish Salve, representing the Tata Group, on Wednesday said, "In the cross-appeal they have filed, they have claimed valuation of Rs 1.5 lakh crore. They have now asked that they be given 18 per cent in all downstream Tata companies and as per their latest application the valuation is ₹1.75 lakh crore." According to Bar and Bench, Salve told the top court's Bench headed by Justice SA Bobde that the valuation of SPG's holding rose from ₹69 crore in 1965 to ₹58,000 crore in 2016. "...Yet, they say Ratan Tata ran the company so badly, that it was forced to wind it up in 2016...Things are going well, the company is making money and he is making allegations of mismanagement."

The Tata firms told the top court that unless the losses were so enormous and there was a lack of probity which left no other option but to remove the majority shareholders of the company, the NCLAT could not have reached the conclusion including that of restoring Cyrus Mistry as the executive chairman. The case will be heard again on Thursday.

Earlier on Tueaday, the Tata group had told the court that the valuation of SP Group's stake in Tata is between ₹70,000 crore and ₹80,000 crore, which is almost ₹ 1lakh crore less than what Mistrys' are seeking.

The two groups have been involved in legal tussle ever since Mistry was removed as Tata Sons chairman in October 2016. After years of heated exchange, SP Group on October 29 submitted a plan of separation to the Supreme Court, seeking to end its long association with the Tata Group. The bench is hearing cross appeals filed by Tata Sons and Cyrus Investments against appellate tribunal NCLAT"s order (Dec 2019) which had restored Cyrus Mistry as executive chairman of Tata Group.

Stress in NBFC sector shows no sign of abating

JAYANTA ROY CHOWDHURY @ New Delhi

NON-banking financial companies (NBFCs) in the country will continue to face stress from their exposure to vulnerable sectors and both the Finance Ministry and Reserve Bank of India (RBI) are closely monitoring the sector for possible weaknesses. According to officials, the RBI is monitoring the top 50 NBFCs, which it considers systemically important for the economy.

Several rating agencies including Moody's and Fitch have also highlighted the problems of the NBFC sector.

Fitch in a report released on Wednesday warned that NBFCs with "construction funding and SME exposure, which will take longer to recover from the (current Covid-induced) crisis, will face greater risks."

"We know their stress levels from loans to certain sectors remain heightened, though NBFCs which were into gold loans or retail consumer loans have done better ... there is need for caution as we do not wish to see any major delinquencies which undermines public confidence in the sector," said officials.

Sanjay Bhattacharyya, former Managing Director of SBI, said, "One way to help out the sector is to extend the credit guarantee that the government has given to the banking sector for loans to MSMEs and the NBFC sector. NBFCs play a very important role in lending to small businesses, who are unable to access normal banking and the sector's health is important to the overall financial ecosystem."

In November, the RBI ordered a special audit of Srei Infrastructure Finance Ltd and its subsidiary Srei Equipment Finance Ltd raising concerns in the market. Earlier, India has faced delinquencies by several large NBFCs, including IL&FS and DHFL.

"These sectors are likely to experience greater problem-loan formation in 2021, as borrower relief programmes taper off," Fitch noted. Gross NPAs in the sector increased from 6.1 per cent in March 2019 to 6.4 per cent in March 2020.

Officials also pointed out that nearly 10,000 NBFCs are registered with the banking regulator. Of these, only 66 are deposit accepting and some 278 of these NBFCs are considered systemically important.

SC halts redemptions in Franklin case till Jan

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INVESTORS of Franklin Templeton will now have to wait till January next year to get back their money as the Supreme Court on Wednesday stayed redemptions for the six schemes that were shut in April till the third week of January. Extending its earlier order of staying the redemption process, the top court has asked Franklin Templeton India to go ahead with its e-voting, beginning December 26, and directed capital markets regulator Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) to appoint an observer for overseeing the process.

On December 3, the apex court had asked Franklin Templeton to seek the unitholders' consent within a week to close the six debt schemes. Later on December 7, Franklin informed that it has sought the consent of unit-holders for the orderly winding up of the six fixed income schemes. All the unitholders of the six debt mutual fund schemes of Franklin Templeton, which was abruptly shut down in April this year, will get to vote in favour of or against the winding up of the credit risk schemes. The voting process will begin from December 26 and will continue till December 28, followed by a meeting the next day.

Meanwhile, an investors' group Chennai Financial Markets and Accountability (CFMA) has asked unitholders to vote against the winding up. In a bulletin published on December 8, CFMA urged the Supreme Court to let the forensic audit report of SEBI be made available to unitholders before they are made to vote on the winding up of schemes. "It is our estimate that there is a large risk of erosion of principal amount to an extent of ₹15,000 crore to ₹20,000 crore, keeping aside the return on investments," CFMA said. On the other hand, Franklin Templeton said that unitholders were trying to create panic.

RBI lays draft rules for NBFCs dividend pay

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has said that non-banking finance companies (NBFC) with minimum 15 per cent capital adequacy and net non-performing assets (NPA) below six per cent for three years will be eligible to declare dividend from this fiscal onwards.

According to the draft dividend payout circular released by the central bank on Wednesday, a better managed NBFC with less than four per cent net NPA can still become eligible for dividend distribution even if the minimum capital and leverage norms are not met for the previous two years. These are part of a matrix where capital adequacy, leverage ratio, adjusted net worth and net NPA set the criteria for distributing the earnings with shareholders. Stronger entities can offer higher but with a cap of 50 per cent of net profit for the accounting year for which the dividend is proposed. The dividend has to be paid only out of the current year's profit.

In the case of non-systemically important non-deposit taking NBFCs, the leverage ratio (debt-to-equity) should be less than 7 for the last 3 years, including the accounting year for which it proposes to declare dividend. For Core Investment Company (CIC), the Adjusted Net Worth should be at least 30 per cent of its aggregate risk weighted assets on balance sheet and risk adjusted value of off-balance sheet items for last three years, including the accounting year.

Heritage Foods exits Future Retail, sells 3% stake for ₹132cr

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HERITAGE Foods, on Wednesday, sold its holding of about 3 per cent in Future Retail. The company said that it had sold the entire holding amounting to ₹132 crore in the open market. The company, which is owned by the family members of former Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu, said sale proceeds shall be mainly utilised for the repayment of its term loans.

"The company has disposed off its entire holdings/investment of 1,78,47,420 equity shares held in Future Retail. These shares were sold through stock exchange in open market in various tranches and the net amount of ₹131.94 crore was received by the company," Heritage Foods said in a regulatory filing. Shares of Heritage Foods advanced 16 per cent to ₹325 on the BSE after the announcement.

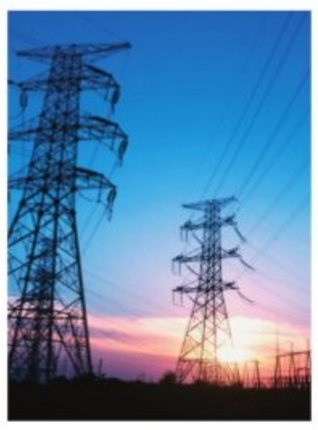
In 2016, the Kishore Biyani-led Future Retail Ltd had inked a strategic deal to consolidate the retail and allied businesses of Heritage Foods through an equity transaction. Heritage Foods, at that time had received a 3.65 per cent equity in Future Retail via freshly-issued shares worth ₹295 crore in FRL. Heritage Foods' retail business includes the popular Heritage Fresh chain of 124 stores in the three key southern cities of Hyderabad, Bengaluru and Chennai. The stores sell a range of household items, fast-moving consumer goods, staples and fresh fruits and vegetables.

India only nation in APAC region with negative power sector outlook

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

RATINGS agency Moody's Investor Services maintained its earlier negative outlook for the Indian electricity sector, even as the outlook for the rest of the countries in the Asia-Pacific region remained stable. According to Moody's, the uncertainty over demand revival and delayed payments from state governments to power distribution companies are the primary reasons for the negative outlook.

"Cash conversion cycle for power companies may continue to remain under pressure with weakening in state government finances and slower economic growth," Moody's noted. India's discoms have seen a steady increase in pending payments to power generators-this despite the Centre's ₹1.2 lakh crore liquidity support programme. Discom dues stood at ₹1,25,743 crore in October 2020— 34.4 per cent higher than last year. In May this year, the Indian power sector had been downgraded by the ratings agency from stable to negative due to the impact of the pandemic on demand. Other reasons cited for the downgrade were mounting discom dues, and policy measures aimed at increasing end-user ease. On the plus side, regulatory measures such as the UDAY scheme have also improved credit-profiles.



Going forward, Moody's expects India to be a key player in increasing renewable power capacities. In particular, renewable projects in China and India enjoy priority in power dispatch, which significantly reduces demand risks. It also noted that renewable projects in India have long-term power purchase agreements with fixed tariffs.

Social commerce to broaden e-commerce reach

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

IN the wake of heightened digital adoption led by the Covid-19 pandemic, the social media and various platforms have been a huge attractant for small business, especially offline retailers, and the trend is only going to get stronger for the next few years. According to a report by Bain & Company in association with Deloitte, the social commerce market in India is pegged to reach $20 billion by 2025 driven by conversational commerce on chat platforms, video-led sales as well as a vibrant social reseller community. In fact, the market size for social commerce is expected to touch $60-70 billion over the next decade.

E-commerce marketplaces like Amazon, Flipkart, Snapdeal and others currently constitute a $30 billion industry in Gross merchandise value (GMV), the report said. On the other hand, social commerce sector is already a $1.5 to $2 billion (GMV) market today.

"Social commerce in India is broadening India's e-commerce sector and paving the way for a model that's built on community, connection and trust. While traditional e-commerce will continue to flourish, social-led models will broaden the reach of e-commerce," said Arpan Sheth, partner and leader, Bain & Company's Asia-Pacific Technology, Vector and Advanced Analytics practices.

Nearly 4 crore retailers can leverage the social commerce channels to grow their revenues . BEAUTIFUL UGLY GAME

PSG, Basaksehir players walk-out of Champions League match following racist slur from fourth official

AFP @ Paris

PARIS Saint-Germain and Istanbul Basaksehir staged an unprecedented joint walk-out over alleged racism by a Champions League match official on Tuesday, prompting UEFA to suspend the game and launch an investigation.

Both teams left the pitch after a lengthy touchline row which erupted when the Romanian fourth official, Sebastian Coltescu, appeared to describe Basaksehir assistant coach Pierre Webo, the former Cameroon international, as "black", or "negru" in Romanian.

The group game in Paris, which was goalless at the time, was suspended and will resume where it left off, in the 14th minute, Wednesday, with a different set of match officials.

Many athletes have taken a strong stand against racism since #BlackLivesMatter protests flared around the world over the death of George Floyd during his arrest in Minneapolis in May. PSG striker Kylian Mbappe tweeted, "Say no to racism", while team-mate Neymar posted, "Black Lives Matter". Both players were prominent in the heated discussions on the touchline. Turkey's President Recep Tayyip Erdogan tweeted he "strongly condemn the racist remarks".

Basaksehir midfielder Giuliano told Brazilian media: "(The comment) was very clear, many people heard, including our coach. It was disgraceful. "As a team and a group, we decided to protest because that is unacceptable. Racism has to end."

The row blew up after Webo was shown a red card. Television microphones in the empty Parc des Princes stadium then picked up a furious Webo repeatedly asking why a racist term had been used to describe him. In the exchange in question between the all-Romanian officiating team, Coltescu said: "The black one over there. This is not possible. Go and identify him. That guy, the black one."

Basaksehir's Senegal striker Demba Ba, among the substitutes for the away side, could be heard remonstrating with the official, saying in English: "When you mention a white guy, you never say 'this white guy', you just say 'this guy', so why when you mention a black guy do you say 'this black guy?'"

UNITED DROP TO EUROPA LEAGUE

The group's other game between Manchester United and RB Leipzig saw the latter edge a five-goal thriller. The result also means that the English side exit from the group stages. They needed a draw to advance to the round of 16 stage. Now, they will drop down to the Europa League in the new year.

Results: Group E: Rennes 1-3 Sevilla, Chelsea 1-1 Krasnodar, Group F: Zenit Saint Petersburg 1-2 Borussia Dortmund, Lazio 2-2 Club Brugge, Group G: Dynamo Kiev 1-0 Ferencvaros, Barcelona 0-3 Juventus. Group H: RB Leipzig 3-2 Manchester United.

Farmers' protest concern for Jr Equestrian C'ship

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

AFTER rejecting a government proposal on Wednesday, protesting farmers threatened to intensify their agitation against agriculture-marketing laws with a nationwide protest on December 14. If that happens, the Junior National Equestrian Championship scheduled at Delhi's Army Polo & Riding Centre from December 20 to 31 might get affected. Around 150 riders and 200 horses are expected to take part in the event.

"We are in touch with the Equestrian Federation of India (EFI) and so far the federation has not issued any advisory in the wake of the ongoing protest," said a source, riders and horses from whose centre will take part in the event. "Horses are supposed to leave in a day or two and riders will follow them. As of now, we have not changed the plan but will reassess the situation on a daily basis to ensure safety to both the riders and horses," added the source.

Regional equestrian leagues were conducted by affiliated state units and clubs in the past to select riders for the championship.

One of the leaders of the agitating farmer also said during a press conference on Wednesday that they would block all roads leading to the national capital one-by-one if their demands are not met. This could hinder the movement of the horses as well as riders because they have to reach the venue a few days before the event starts. Horses are usually transferred in horse ambulance and even climate-controlled vans.

"We are hoping the protest to get over by the time championship begins but if that doesn't happen then it's a big worry. Riders from our academy will board trains while the horses will be transported in ambulances. As far as the venue is concerned, it is safe and the event is on at the moment," said a coach from an equestrian academy. Despite attempts, EFI could not be reached.

Boxers ready for WC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

INDIA'S boxing teams, both men and women, are set to participate in another competition in Europe. This time, it's the prestigious Cologne Boxing World Cup from December 16 to 20 in Cologne. Both teams have been in Europe since October.

According to the Boxing Federation of India (BFI), the tour has been extended by a few more days. The teams are now expected to come back after the tournament in Cologne. Top boxers will be participating at the event.

The entire contingent (nine men and five women) reached Germany on Wednesday, with the event assuming significance for the women's pugilists especially as it will be their first competitive bouts since the lockdown in March. "We are ready for high quality competitions," said BFI performance director, Santiago Nieva.

"We have trained for close to a month now in Italy and stepped up our performances since our arrival here, we had a good competition in France and then few friendlies in Italy and now a strong tournament in Germany. These exposure tournaments will ensure we are more competition ready and bring our players up-speed as far as our preparations for the Olympics are concerned."

Awaiting Greener pastures

SRINIDHI PR @ Chennai

CAMERON Green's current form is a happy headache for Australia ahead of the Border-Gavaskar Trophy beginning on December 17. Opener David Warner was officially ruled out of the series on Wednesday due to a groin injury and the promising Will Pucovski, who was considered an automatic pick for the opening Test starting December 17, is now uncertain after suffering a concussion in the first warm-up game.

Opener Joe Burns has endured a poor run of form, adding to the list of worries for the selectors. At the same time, Green has rose through the ranks with 363 runs in six innings in the Shield, including a 197. In the practice game, against a quality Indian attack, he notched up an unbeaten 125.

In this backdrop, the 21-year-old's recent form has left the team management with a few questions. Coming in at No 5 when the team was reeling at 98/5, Green's composed knock on a competitive Sydney pitch has already garnered praise.

"Obviously, when you play Shield cricket, you have an idea of what you are facing. The Australian domestic competition holds you in good stead, it's a tough competition with world-class players. But the match against Indians was a step-up," Green opined. "It was more of a challenge because I hadn't really seen those bowlers bowl before. Umesh Yadav was bowling down the breeze on a wicket that did not have enough for them. Yeah, that was incredibly tough but I had (Tim) Paine at the other end, so it was helpful to get through them."

On the final day of the drawn warm-up game, he accounted for the wickets of openers Prithvi Shaw and Shubman Gill, giving the Indians early jitters. Green's performance with the ball was a reminder that he can chip in a few overs. "It's an incredibly hard team to break into. It is pretty settled at the moment. Apart from a few injuries with Davey (Warner) at the top... but that really is not the position I'm vying for. All I can do is really just make myself available and get myself ready," said Green.

SOLUTION FOR PLASTIC POLLUTION

Researchers at the University of Buffalo are developing a novel set of tools that aims to reduce plastic waste and decrease the production of plastic. A look...

ACT NOW

Plastic consumption is amongst the major concern thwarting the earth's sustainable growth. It is the major environmental pollutant, affecting the flora and fauna equally. Despite the many measures taken by the global authorities, the surge in plastic consumption shadows sustainability

ALARMING TREND

The World Economic Forum states that every year eight million tons of plastic waste leaks into the ocean. It is estimated that by 2050, more plastic will be present in the ocean compared to the fish. Hence forth, to address the challenges associated with plastic consumption, the researchers have formulated a new AI-driven robotic tool for plastic recycling industry

WHAT IS IT?

This new tool includes a robotic system enabled with machine learning that automates the ability to sort plastics, as well as environmentally responsible solvents and new chemistries that breaks down the plastics into feasible usage components

FILE PHOTO

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Robotic system under development combines the sensor technology and machine learning model. The sensor technology will register the molecular signature of each piece of plastic. Machine learning will identify the specific piece of plastic, based on molecular signatures

AIM OF THE STUDY

- The researchers look to create an advanced mixed-waste sorting process that captures and reuses materials found in plastic recycling streams such as contaminants and non-polymeric waste for easy and cost-effective recycling process
- The robotic system also aims to detect the use of environmentally responsible solvents, for segregating the desired plastics from ingrained impurities
- The researchers also want to develop models that will spearhead the controlled breakdown of plastic molecules into raw materials

1.9	8	5.25	60-90
The research worth $ 1.9 mn is funded by the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC)	Every day approximately 8 million pieces of plastic pollution find their way into our oceans	There may now be around 5.25 trillion macro and microplastic pieces floating in the open ocean. Weighing up to 269,000 tons	Plastics consistently make up 60 to 90% of all marine debris studied

Not only is this work critically important to our planet, it also contributes to the country's advanced manufacturing capabilities. It will help meet both consumer demand for and corporate commitments to incorporating recycled plastics into commercial products

Allergy warning for Pfizer vaccine in UK

A day after the first set of patients received their initial dose, British health authorities advise caution

HEALTH

LONDON: Britain's medicines regulator on Wednesday issued a warning for people with "significant" history of allergic reactions to medicines, food or vaccines to not have the Pfizer/BioNTech jab, a day after the first set of patients were administered their first of two doses of the vaccine against Covid-19.

The warning comes after two National Health Service (NHS) workers experienced "anaphylactoid reaction" symptoms shortly after being injected, but are now said to be recovering well. NHS England said all its trusts involved with the mass vaccination programme have been informed and from Wednesday, all patients scheduled to receive the vaccine will be asked if they have a history of allergic reactions.

"As is common with new vaccines, the MHRA have advised on a precautionary basis that people with a significant history of allergic reactions do not receive this vaccination after two people with a history of significant allergic reactions responded adversely," said Professor Stephen Powis, medical director for the NHS.

An anaphylactoid reaction tends to involve a skin rash, breathlessness and sometimes a drop in blood pressure and both the NHS workers who experienced this are said to have a history of serious allergies and carry adrenaline pens around with them.

"We have been advised by MHRA [Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency] of two yellow card reports that may be associated with allergic reaction due to administration of the Covid-19 BNT162b2 vaccine," Pfizer UK said in a statement. As a precautionary measure, the MHRA has issued temporary guidance to the NHS while it conducts an investigation in order to fully understand each case and its causes," it said.

> MHRA have advised on a precautionary basis that people with a significant history of allergic reactions do not receive vaccination

> Professor Stephen Powis, medical director

Dr June Raine, the head of the MHRA, told a joint select committee hearing on Tuesday that "real-time vigilance" will continue throughout the vaccine rollout process.

"We know from the extensive clinical trials that this [allergy] was not a feature, but if we need to strengthen our advice now that we have had this experience in vulnerable populations, the groups selected as a priority, we get that advice out immediately," she said.

Experts have indicated that such reactions are to be expected in rare cases with any vaccine, including the annual flu vaccine. Several thousand people became the first to be vaccinated against Covid-19 on Tuesday, the day marked as V-Day or Vaccine Day in the UK.

Indian-origin husband and wife couple, Hari Shukla, 87, and his wife Ranjan, 83, were among those on the prioritised list of recipients finalised based on those at the highest risk of death from the deadly virus. The NHS has announced that vaccination programme will be expanded out of the 50 hospital hubs to general practitioner (GP) surgeries around the country from next week. Doses are expected to be delivered to around 200 GP surgeries initially to allow them to start next Tuesday, when over-80s will be invited first.

Once the first 200 GP practices have received their doses, the programme will be expanded out to more than 1,000 surgeries ' with each local area having a designated site.

Nearly 70 hospital hubs across the UK have now taken delivery of 800,000 doses, and another delivery of more than 1 million is expected to be shipped from Belgium by next week to allow the community programme to get under way.

By the end of the year, the government hopes to have had around 5 million doses delivered in total.

Earth set for record 3°C warming despite crisis

ENVIRONMENT

PARIS: Earth remains on course to warm more than 3 degrees Celsius by the century's end despite a dip in greenhouse gas emissions due to the pandemic and pledges to curb pollution, the UN said on Wednesday.

In its annual assessment of emissions levels, the UN's Environment Programme found that 2020's 7-percent fall in carbon pollution would have "negligible impact" on warming without a broad and rapid shift away from fossil fuels.

The Emissions Gap report analyses the gulf between action required under the Paris climate deal and emissions cuts currently planned by countries. It found that a "green recovery" from the pandemic, in which emerging net-zero pledges are accelerated, could shave 25 percent off of emissions by 2030. This would bring the world closer to levels required to limit warming to 2C, as stipulated under Paris. With just over 1C of warming since pre-industrial times, Earth is already experiencing stronger and more frequent droughts, wildfires and superstorms rendered deadlier by rising seas.

"The year 2020 is on course to be one of the warmest on record, while wildfires, storms and droughts continue to wreak havoc," said UNEP Executive Director Inger Andersen. She said Wednesday's report showed that a green pandemic recovery "can take a huge slice out of greenhouse gas emissions and help slow climate change". UNEP said last year that emissions must fall 7.6 percent annually through 2030 to keep the Paris temperature goal of 1.5C in play.

FACT OF THE MATTER

United Nation raises $370mn

CRISIS

The United Nations announced on Tuesday it has raised more than $370 million for its emergency fund to help respond to crises in 2021. More than 50 donors pledged money to the UN Central Emergency Response Fund (CERF), managed by the under-secretary-general for humanitarian affairs, Mark Lowcock, according to a statement. The donors were not identified. "This fund is one of the fastest ways to help people trapped both in sudden-onset and deteriorating crises, as well as underfunded ones that are not at the top of the world's radar," said UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres during a videoconference of donors held at the body's headquarters.

Face shield is not enough

HEALTH

Face shields alone are not highly effective to prevent Covid-19 infection without masks, says a new study which assessed what happens to the airflow around these plastic screens when someone nearby sneezes. The research, published in the Physics of Fluids, noted that the number of people using face shields as a substitute for face masks has been increasing in schools, universities, restaurants, and service businesses. However, the scientists, including those from Fukuoka University in Japan, said sneezes produce a fluid phenomenon known as vortex rings that can capture microscopic particles and pass through the shield's barrier.

Paper-based test to detect Covid

MEDICINE

A team led by an Indian-origin scientist has developed a rapid, ultrasensitive Covid-19 test using a paper-based electrochemical sensor that can detect the presence of the novel coronavirus in less than five minutes. The researchers from the University of Illinois in the US created a graphene-based electrochemical biosensor with an electrical read-out setup to selectively detect the presence of SARS-CoV-2 genetic material. According to the research published in the journal ACS Nano, there are two components to this biosensor: a platform to measure an electrical read-out and probes to detect the presence of viral RNA. To create the platform, the researchers led by professor Dipanjan Pan first coated filter paper with a layer of graphene nanoplatelets to create a conductive film. They then placed a gold electrode with a predefined design on top of the graphene as a contact pad for electrical readout.

What pandemic? Life normal in Lakshadweep islands

HEALTH

KOCHI: The world may be in the grip of the Covid-19 pandemic, disrupting daily schedules, but life seems to be normal in the small Lakshadweep islands, which is yet to record the first Covid-positive case.

No masks, no sanitisers, and many rules of Covid-19 are not in place and every human activity, including marriages and public gatherings continue, thanks to standard operating procedure (SOP) that bars easy entry of people to the island in the Arabian sea. According to PP Mohammed Faizal, who represents the islands in the Lok Sabha, Lakshadweep has staved off the Covid-19 pandemic since its outbreak earlier this year, reporting zero cases as of December 8. "So far not a single case of coronavirus has been reported from Lakshadweep because of the exemplary precautionary measures we have taken," Faizal said.

Gaining entry to the 36 sq km island comes with its set of strict measures. Whether it is a common man, officials or people's representatives — they will have to fulfill the measures including a mandatory seven-day quarantine at Kochi, the only point from where transportation via ships and helicopters to the Union Territory is allowed.

Faizal said no Covid-19 restrictions have been imposed on the people in the islands. "No masks, no sanitisers because it is a green area. Lakshadweep is the only place where the schools are open and classes are on."

SORE EYES, COMMON CORONA INDICATOR

HEALTH

LONDON: SORE eyes are the most significant vision-based indicator of Covid-19, according to a study led by an Indian-origin scientist which provides more understanding of how the novel coronavirus travels through the body.

Researchers at Anglia Ruskin University (ARU) in the UK asked people who had a confirmed Covid-19 diagnosis to complete a questionnaire about their symptoms, and how those compared to before they tested positive.

"This is the first study to investigate the various eye symptoms indicative of conjunctivitis in relation to Covid-19, their time frame in relation to other well-known Covid-19 symptoms and their duration," said study lead author Professor Shahina Pardhan, Director of the Vision and Eye Research Institute at ARU.

The study, published in the BMJ Open Ophthalmology, found that sore eyes was significantly more common when the participants had Covid-19.

MARINE LIFE

Corals can bounce back if humans don't interfere: study

ECOSYSTEM

PARIS: Some corals can recover from bleaching even in long heatwaves as long as humans don't interfere, scientists said on Tuesday, raising hopes for the endangered underwater ecosystems essential to much marine life.

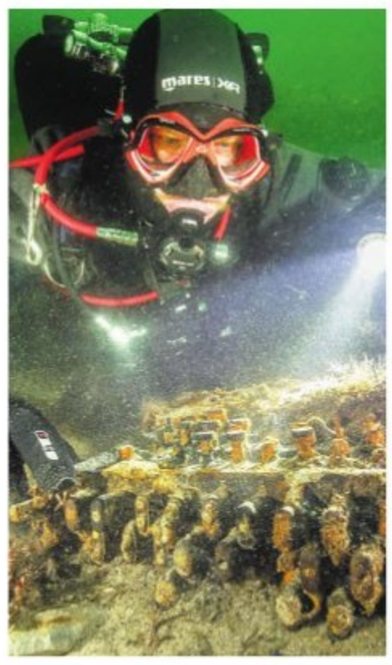
Researchers tracked corals of the Kiritimati atoll in the Pacific Ocean through the longest tropical heatwave on record, expecting the reefs to suffer mass bleaching. But despite sitting in a "hot water bath" for 10 months due to a particularly strong 2015/2016 El Nino, the studied corals survived.

"We were blown away... to find that not only were all the corals not dead! But some of them didn't even look to be in bad shape or bleached," said Julia Baum, co-author of the study published in Nature Communications. "They had recovered while still under these stressful conditions!" the biology professor at Canadian Victoria University said.

However, there is a catch. Only the corals undisturbed by human stress factors such as water pollution were more likely to survive the heatwave.

"We found that corals were only able to recover from bleaching while at elevated temperatures if they were not also exposed to other strong local stressors," Baum said.

Coral reefs cover less than one percent of the ocean floor but support a quarter of marine species, providing them with food and shelter. Warming waters due to climate change cause corals to expel the food-producing algae living in their tissues, breaking down their symbiotic relationship and leading to loss of colour.



Only the corals undisturbed by human stress factors are more likely to survive

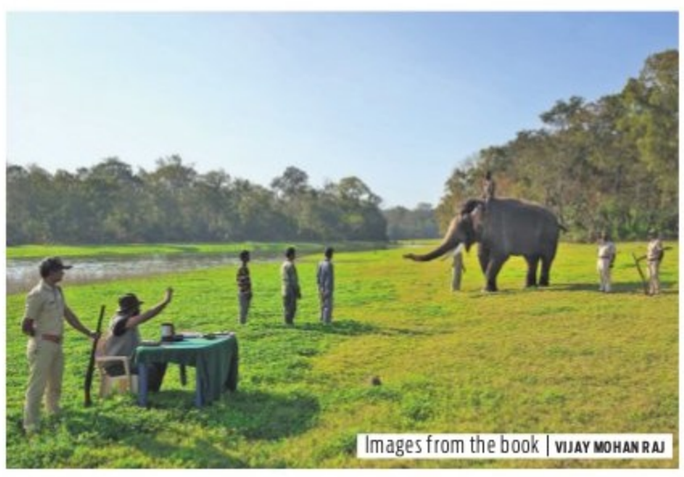
NATURE'S KEEPERS

A new coffee table book released by the Karnataka forest department is an ode to the unsung frontline workers who help in keeping the state's lush green cover intact

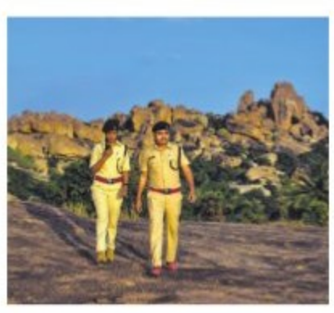
MONIKA MONALISA

THE lush forests of Karnataka are often spoken about with great admiration. While natural resources have their part to play, it is also a result of the efforts put in by those who work to keep the land that way. Bringing spotlight to these unsung heroes, is a coffee table book, titled Forests, which has been brought out by the Karnataka forest department.

Vijay Mohan Raj, additional principal chief conservator of forests, who has authored the book, says it is high time people know about the "frontline workers" of the department, who usually go unnoticed. "When we speak about the achievement of the forest department, it's generally officers who get the credit. But there are many workers who work towards protecting the environment, safeguarding tiger reserves, planting trees, etc, without worrying about their life," says Raj.



Images from the book | VIJAY MOHAN RAJ



He goes on to explain how there is a lot that the forest department does that people have little idea about. "For instance, not many people are aware of a job description such as mangrove plantation," says Raj, adding that another oft-neglected group are the mahouts. The book celebrates their work and acknowledges them.

Since Forests is a coffee table book, a lot of importance has been given to the pictures used. "All the pictures had to be of high quality, so we used various DSLRs and drones to get the shots. We have carried content from filmmakers and wildlife photographers like Amoghavarsha, and from the department's archives," says Raj. The pictures include shots from different forests areas in the state, including Uttara Kannada, Dakshina Kannada and Belagavi.

The book is available on e-commerce portals, and is seeing a high demand. "We had a limited number of copies printed. We are also focusing on giving away the book to forest departments of various states, and different libraries for educational purpose," says Raj.

The lounging look

Maldives is the new banana bread' proclaimed Instagram influencer Freddy Birdy, and we couldn't agree with him more! With short haul getaways like Goa, Dubai and Maldives becoming the go-to destinations to escape this season, dreamy beach vacays seem no longer reserved only for the summers. Post lockdown, easy-relaxed holidays have become the call of our new world order, and resort wear seems to be the perfect wardrobe choice that gives you a sense of escapism, whether you choose to physically travel to a destination or just lounge at home.

Designer Anjali Patel Mehta spent 10 months of the year on the beaches of Goa and Alibaug and recently opened doors to her flagship store of her bohemia luxury resort wear brand Verandah in Goa. She says, "Resort wear is often confused with beach wear. It's not entirely beach wear, but more vacation dressing. A crossover between contemporary fashion and beach wear with each piece lending versatility from AM to PM. When you're on holiday, everyone wants to look and feel good yet comfortable. We aim to fill that gap."

Resort wear has always been a mood uplifter owing to the vibrant colours, prints and easy breezy silhouettes. Resorts are a state of mind – they make you feel like you're on holiday even when you're not. Because of the pandemic and the subsequent lockdown, 2020 saw a major shift towards comfort in clothing and resort wear fits right into that category – the feeling of happiness and being on holiday was a plus, adds Reby Kumar, creative head of Guapa resort wear. These collections allow you to escape in style and the resort wear relevance is greater now more than ever. "Getting away to a nice resort on an island helps you holiday in an open space and maintain your safety by not having to deal with large crowds. It works perfectly and for this everyone loves a good resort look," adds Bengaluru designer Aviva Bidappa, who recently launched her swimwear brand in India.

As a style, resort wear has increased in popularity over the last few years. With breathable fabrics that are light and airy, they typically transport you to exotic, beachy locales. As a brand that has been instrumental in shaping the outlookonswimwear in India, Narresh Kukreja, creative director, Shivan & Narresh feels that fashion saw a minimalist outlook in 2020. Customers were looking for easier silhouettes and fuss-free fabrics, not surprising that loungewear became regular jargon and the only category of choice for one's sartorial picks.

Spring Summer 2021 by Guapa (top); Anjali Patel Mehta in her creation

Resort wear has a long standing history dating back to the inter-war period, where it began as a trend for elites and socialites to go on vacations, not just for relaxation, but also for publicity, due to the growth of mass media in that period. Times have changed since, and today resort wear is an important part of fashion week calendars. The pandemic has further elevated resort and lounge wear as a new category to many mainstream brands, adding it as a part of our everyday essentials. The main reason for resort wear going mainstream is that its silhouettes make sense for the current times- easy separates, overlays, kaftans, and kimonos, making it the perfect capsule wardrobe for you to chill out indoors or escape with ease and style.

FIT BIT

GUPTA PADMASANA

(HIDDEN LOTUS POSE)

In Sanskrit, gupta means 'hidden' or 'preserved' or 'guarded,' padma means 'lotus' and asana means 'posture'. It is a combination of Padmasana and Advasana. This requires the strength of the hips, knees and ankles to support the upper body while in a forward bend. Thus hiding one's anger, anxiety, tensions, negativities, etc., and preserving what is good for the body and mind. Thus, the students should be encouraged to practise mindful breath-body connections. It has a positive influence upon the entire spine. Especially good for a rounded back. It corrects the postural alignment of the spine.

STEPS

- First, assume in Padmasana (Lotus Pose), placing the hands on the floor in front of the knees.
- Then, while leaning on the arms, raise the buttocks and stand on the knees.
- Now, slowly lower the front side of the body to the floor in the prone position.
- At this stage, rest either the chin or one cheek on the floor. Place the palms together behind the back.
- Keep the fingers which may point in Anjali (Namaskar) mudra.
- If possible, touch the back of the head with the middle fingers.
- Now, you can close your eyes and relax the whole body. For complete relaxation, the hands may rest on the floor besides the body with the palms facing upward.
- Now, return to the starting position, cross the legs the other way and repeat the asana.
- Your breathing should be normal throughout the practice.

BENEFITS

- Since the chest is opened in this pose, the vertebral column is aligned and strengthened.
- Relaxes the whole body and mind. So, it is a good remedy for stress, depression and anxiety.
- It also activates heart and neck chakras. Hence, it aids in Kundalini activation.
- Helps the lungs in taking more oxygen, thereby ensuring optimum functioning of the respiratory system. It stretches all the muscles in the leg and thighs.
- While ensuring the shoulders are straight (rather than rounded), the shoulders and arm flexibility is increased.

LIMITATIONS

- In case of pain or injury in the hips, knees or shoulders, avoid this. Skip it, if you have cervical spine problems.
- It is not advisable for pregnant women. Avoid this if you have lower back pain, degenerated disc or sciatica pain.

Excessive alcohol consumption can be a risk factor for liver diseases

Living with liver diseases

Liver ailments are more common than one realises. Here's everything you need to know about such conditions

DR DINESH KINI K

INDIA has been witnessing a rise in liver disease cases. Sedentary lifestyle, increase in non-communicable disorders like hypertension, obesity, and diabetes, etc have led liver disease to become the 10th most common cause of death. According to WHO, about 46 per cent of global diseases and 59 per cent of the mortality is caused due to chronic liver diseases, and almost 35 million people globally die of the same.

Liver disease is when your liver is inflamed or its normal functioning is affected due to virus, drugs or genetic factors.

RISK FACTORS

- Excessive alcohol consumption
- Unsafe blood transfusion
- Sharing needles or other drug-injection equipment
- Unprotected sex
- Diabetes
- Obesity
- Herbal / Hepatotoxic medications

Symptoms

The liver secretes bile that helps in absorbing nutrients from food, purifying toxins from the blood, controlling blood sugar and hormonal levels, breaking down fats, alcohol and medications. Any interference caused disrupts the normal functioning of the liver and you may experience loss of appetite, nausea, chronic fatigue, dark urine or pale stools, yellowish skin and eyes, and bloody or tar-coloured stool. Swelling in the legs and ankles with fluid, edema, is associated with liver disease due to lack of enough albumin or low serum albumin.

Common liver diseases

- Acute Viral Hepatitis or liver inflammation caused by either hepatitis A, B, C, D, E is a common liver infection that take about 4-8 weeks to cure
- Chronic Hepatitis or liver inflammation due to hepatitis B & C viruses and certain drugs lasts for 6 or more months and may result in liver cirrhosis and failure if untreated
- Fatty Liver Disease is caused due to excess fat in the liver
- Liver Cirrhosis is characterised by abnormal functioning and structure due to excess alcohol and hepatitis B & C and leads to loss of liver cells and liver scarring (fibrosis). In advance cirrhosis, liver transplantation is the only treatment option.
- Liver Cancer happens due to abnormal growth of the liver cells and is common among people with chronic liver disease.

Prevention

Keep your liver healthy by maintaining ideal body weight and reduced alcohol consumption. A person with liver disease should avail immediate treatment to maximise liver functioning and slow down damage. Liver failure can be fatal and prevented by limiting risk of cirrhosis or hepatitis.

Treatment

Diagnosis at an initial stage can help. Doctors recommend liver function blood test, imaging tests to scan any damage, and biopsy for diagnosis. The treatment method depends on the severity of the disease and may require medication and surgery (if advised), and lifestyle modifications.

Liver can regenerate and come back to normalcy after a certain point of time. However, scarring damages the tissues of the liver, which in turn fails to regenerate. This is common in chronic liver disease cases and requires liver transplantation.

Hospitals provide supportive care that allows the doctor to treat the symptoms of the patient with liver failure (diagnosed with liver disease caused by a virus) until the virus runs its course.

This holiday season, swap the use of white sugar in your feast with these natural sweeteners

Sweet and safe

SOUMITA BISWAS

WHITE sugar is one of the most commonly consumed ingredients in today's diet and while it gives instant gratification, it would not be wrong to say that white sugar is one of most potentially harmful ingredients in our diets. Many who wish to cut down on their white sugar intake have not been able to do it as they think there are no other alternatives. Sweet lovers often cannot stay without having their daily dose of sugar. This holiday season, here is a list of healthy alternatives to sugar that you could use as you prepare your feast:

Jaggery

For many centuries before this one, people living in Asia and Africa have been using jaggery as a part of their diet. It is part of their culinary heritage. It is one of the cheapest natural sugars. Jaggery has started to make a comeback in our diet in the recent years. Sugarcane jaggery is unrefined sugarcane juice which is manually boiled, churned, filtered and then poured into moulds sold in the stores. One of the main health benefits of jaggery is that it helps improve digestion by activating the digestive enzymes. It stimulates bowel movements and helps relieve constipation symptoms. It is a liver detoxificant and helps build immunity.

Maple syrup

Maple syrup is extracted from the xylem sap of maple trees. A hole is drilled into the maple tree through which the sap is channelled into a container. Unlike white sugar, which doesn't offer any nutrients, maple syrup supplies minerals like manganese and zinc. Loaded with antioxidants, it also syrup acts as an energy booster and complements heart health.

Honey

Honey is considered liquid gold and is one of the oldest sweeteners, dating back 3,000 years. It was an integral part of every household not only in India but globally. Honeybees extract the flower nectar which is then converted into simple sugars and stored in honeycombs. Along with the sweetness, honey provides minerals such as calcium, iron, potassium and magnesium. This nature's liquid is known for its healing and antibacterial properties.

Palm jaggery

Health benefits of palm jaggery are manifold. It is prepared traditionally. An earthen pot is placed under a palm sapling which is scythed to facilitate sap oozing. The sap is boiled, churned till it thickens and then poured into moulds to obtain palm jaggery. The awareness about this natural sugar is such that many tea shops in South India have a separate fan base for beverages made with palm jaggery. Low on the glycaemic index, it is loaded with iron and is a great source of energy.

Date sugar

We are aware of the immense benefits of dates. They are full of glucose, sucrose and fructose. Date sugar is made of dehydrated dates, which are ground to resemble sugar. They come packed with proteins, iron, copper, zinc, and manganese.

Stevia

Made from the leaves of stevia plant, this is a zero calorie alternative to sugar and is great for those who are watching their weight, and is also beneficial for diabetics as it does not cause glucose spikes. Stevia is also much more potent in sweetness and so only a little quantity is required compared to white sugar. Fresh stevia leaves can be used to sweeten warm morning beverages like tea. It can also be dried, powdered and stored for future use.

While natural sweeteners are a great option in general, patients of diabetes should consult their doctor before making it a part of their regular diet.

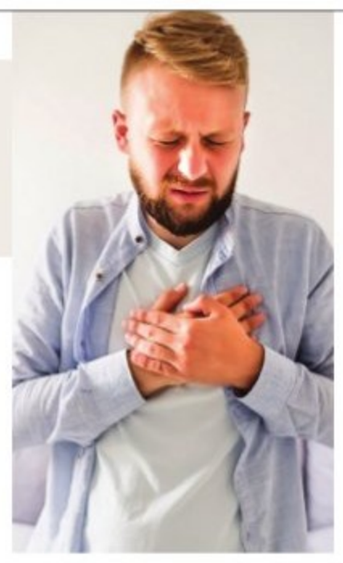
If ignored for long, acid reflux can lead to a number of complications



REINING IN ACID REFLUX

DR. NISHANTH LAKSHMIKANTHA

Have you ever experienced a burning sensation and a slight hiccup after eating a spicy meal? Acid reflux, a lifestyle disease also known as pyrosis, is associated with chronic symptoms of heartburn, especially in the lower chest area, and is mostly caused by an excess dose of spices.

According to medical science, when the food flows back into the food pipe from the stomach, the lining of the esophagus (food pipe) gets irritated because of acid reflux, which results in indigestion. The condition is uncomfortable irrespective of any age group.

Owing to the rapid lifestyle change and eating habits, there has been a steep rise in people suffering from acid reflux. It is commonly triggered by spicy, fatty or acidic food items like alcohol, caffeine, high intake of carbonated drinks, acidic juices and table salt. Normally people tend to ignore the symptoms and self-medicate with an antacid to recover from the burning sensation, without any consultation with a physician. If done so, it can pose serious health implications risking your life and one of the major risks include esophageal cancer. Consulting a doctor in time can help in avoiding such conditions and relieving the symptoms.

If prolonged, acid reflux can lead to a number of health complications. Here are some:

1 GERD

Gastroesophageal Reflux (GERD) is diagnosed when acid reflux occurs more than twice a week. Some of the common symptoms include bad breath, nausea, excessive chest pain, difficulty in swallowing (dysphagia) and so on. GERD is not life threatening, but if left untreated it may cause serious health problems like esophageal ulcers, esophagitis and aspiration pneumonia.

2 Tooth decay

Heartburn can take a toll on our smile too. The stomach acid affects the enamel or the backside of the tooth, which can weaken our tooth resulting in cavities. A regular oral test is recommended to detect the early symptoms of a serious dental problem.

3 Hernia

Acid reflux also gives rise to hernia. Usually, hiatal hernia does not show possible symptoms until the protrusion of the stomach, through hiatus is quite large. Possible symptoms include fatigue, abdominal pain, sore throat, frequent burping and so on.

4 Esophageal cancer

People suffering from frequent indigestion problem hold a chance of having esophageal cancer. This condition does not show symptoms at an early stage, and the symptoms are noticeable only when the cancer has reached a more advanced stage. It causes major weight loss, coughing, severe indigestion problems and heartburn.

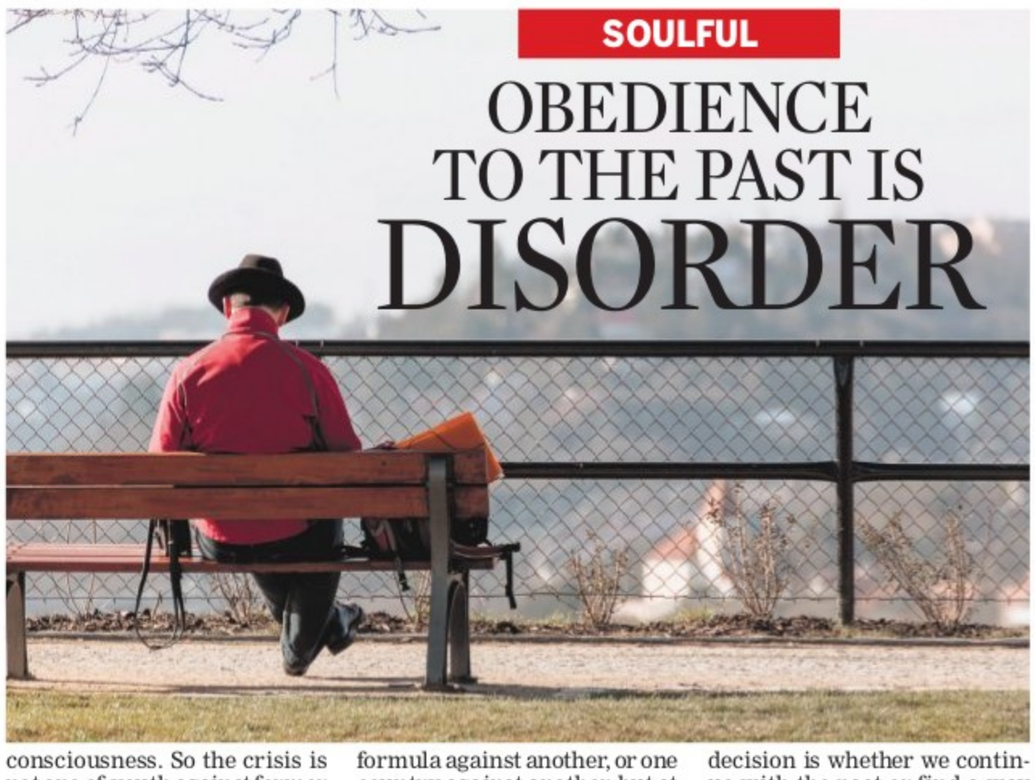
Covid-19 may trigger Guillain-Barre Syndrome

Researchers have reported the first instance of Covid-19 triggering a recurrence of Guillain-Barre Syndrome - a rare disorder where the body's immune system attacks nerves and can lead to respiratory failure and death. While there have been several reports of Guillain-Barre Syndrome following Covid-19, this is the first in which Covid-19 actually triggered a recurrence of the condition. According to a case report, published in the journal Pathogens, a 54-year-old man had suffered with Guillain-Barre Syndrome twice, and had a third occurrence after testing positive for Covid-19. - IANS

SOULFUL

OBEDIENCE TO THE PAST IS DISORDER



You often hear that the future is in the hands of the younger generation. Is this so? Or is it that younger generations are also so heavily conditioned by the past-of which they may not be conscious at all-that they revolt only superficially against the established order. This superficial revolt gives them a certain vitality and freshness which is mistaken for a new beginning. Every generation has been more or less in revolt against the past, but they are soon trapped by the past, by the society, culture in which they have lived. All this is fairly obvious and does not require deep analysis.

What is more urgent is that, as human beings, every one of us has to think, act and live in a totally different way that is not based on aggression, acquisitiveness and the predatory instinct that man has inherited. This revolution is not in the social or the economic field but at a much greater depth; it is in the very structure of human consciousness. So the crisis is not one of youth against former generations, or one religious formula against another, or one country against another, but at the very roots of our being. The decision is whether we continue with the past or find a way of living in which conflict in any form does not exist.

To find a new way of life, order is necessary. Order is not imitation or acceptance of a pattern as a way of life. It is not obedience to a higher authority, whether that authority is outer or inner. Order is not conformity either to a way of life established through tradition or to a way of life cultivated for oneself. All such order is essentially a form of acceptance of conformity. Order cannot possibly exist when there is fear; fear and disorder go together. The social structure in which we live by its very nature produces this disorder. It is this disorder that we are frightened of, and we cultivate a morality to overcome this fear. So our so-called morality is no more than adjustment to disorder.

When we talk of order we mean a state of mind that is the natural outcome of understanding the actual nature of disorder. It is not the cultivation of a new pattern or system to be followed, but rather it is seeing the nature of disorder and its danger. If you cling to the old way of life, obviously you will not see the danger of this disorder. So the seeing of disorder is the discipline and not the other way round. Freedom does not come from discipline as it is generally understood, which is to conform, to suppress, to obey, and so on. Discipline means learning. So you have to become a disciple of freedom; and there is no guru or teacher to tell you what freedom is. So order is possible only when there is learning about freedom. This learning is the continuation of freedom in action.

So authority comes to an end. Of course there must be the authority of the policeman and the law, but there is no other authority. For freedom, which is order, cannot exist in the shadow of authority, whether it is the authority of tradition or the authority that one has gathered through experience and knowledge. Authority is always the past, and obedience to the past is disorder.

ACTOR YOGESH LAUNCHES FIRST PRODUCTION VENTURE, KAMSA

The first film made under the banner of Shrinika will be directed by Ranjith Kumar Gowda; it will be made in Kannada and Tamil, and the makers are trying to sign up Tamil actor Samuthirakani

A SHARADHAA

Actor Yogesh, who is popularly known as Yogi, started his acting career with Duniya, and having made his mark in the Kannada film industry, he has now decided to launch his own production house under the name of his daughter, Shrinika. Titled Kamsa, the first film made under his home banner will be a bilingual made in Kannada and Tamil. It will be directed by Ranjith Kumar Gowda, who has previously helmed Apple Cake.

"Being in the film industry for these many years, I wanted to do something other than acting, and I thought a production house would be the next best thing. Coincidentally, I got my hands on a fantastic story," says Yogi, who will also be a part of the film. "The director, who has also written the story, has come up with an underworld subject, which takes the audience back to the character I played in my first film as hero, Nanda Loves Nanditha. It is a very strong script," he adds, revealing that the team is also in talks with noted Tamil actor Samuthirakani to bring him on board. "Kamsa is now in pre-production stage, and we hope to begin the project in March 2021," says Yogi, who has done films such as Ambari and Sidlingu.

Meanwhile, Yogi took up a project post lockdown, for which he has completed the shooting. The film titled Naanu, Adu mathu Saroja is helmed by Madamakki director Vinay Preetham.

The actor's next film will be Lankasura, for which shooting will start in mid-January. This commercial entertainer will have Yogi collaborating with director Pramod Kumar. He will be sharing screen space with Vinod Prabhakar. He will also be a part of Shogun, a project conceived by Neenasam Manju.

The shooting of Upendra-starrer Kabza, which was initially supposed to resume in October, had got pushed ahead after director Chandru and his family tested positive for Covid-19. The filmmaker has now recovered and is back to work, all set to start shooting for Kabza from Dec. 20.

As earlier planned, the filming will start with a jail episode for which KGF art director Shivakumar has come up with a large set built at a huge cost at Minerva Mills. The action-drama, based on the underworld theme set in the 1980s, is being made by Siddheshwara Enterprises. It will be out in seven languages. It will be shot in Kannada and Telugu, and will be dubbed and released in Tamil, Malayalam, Hindi, Marathi and Bengali as well.

R Chandru

Besides Upendra, Kabza consists of a host of actors, including Kabir Duhan Singh, Kota Srinivas Rao, Jaya Prakash, Kaat Raju, Subbaraju, Avinash, and M Kamaraj, all of whom play antagonists. "The film has five songs, and lyrics of one song for the Telugu version have been penned by well-known lyricist Ramajogayya Sastry. We also have dialogue writer Varadaraj, who hails from Karnataka and is currently associated with S S Rajamouli's team, who will be penning the lyrics for one track for the Kannada version," says Chandru.

SHUBHA RAKSHA TO TEST WATERS IN DIFFERENT LANGUAGES

Shubha Raksha, who has made her mark in Kannada cinema with films like Apple Cake, Gudugu, Mookavismitha and Mathe Udhbava, is all set to try her luck in different languages now. The actor is quite thrilled to be foraying into Tollywood. She has completed shooting for her first Telugu web series, and is currently shooting for a feature film. The yet-to-be-titled project directed by Ramana Raj will be a suvspense thriller, in which she gets to share screen space with Siva and Satya actor JD Chakravarthy.

The project began in 2019 but had to be put on hold due to Covid-19. The shooting resumed in November, and has now been completed. The series also features Kannada actor Vinay Prasad. It is said to be a Kannada-Telugu bilingual, for which cinematography has been handled by Allikatti.

Shubha Raksha, who has also appeared on the small screen, is currently shooting for a Tamil serial, Amman.

Amitabh Bachchan, Shah Rukh Khan, Akshay Kumar, Ranveer Singh, Alia Bhatt and Hrithik Roshan feature in the Forbes list of Most Influential Celebrities on Social Media in the Asia-Pacific region. The list also mentions Katrina Kaif, Anushka Sharma, Jacqueline Fernandez, Shahid Kapoor, Madhuri Dixit, besides singers Shreya Ghoshal and Neha Kakkar.

In the inaugural 100 Digital Stars list, Forbes Asia highlights celebrities who, despite cancelled physical events and activities, managed to remain active using social media to interact with their fans, raise awareness, inspire optimism and even helped causes like Covid-19 relief. The list comes without any ranking.

In the list, Big B has been credited for raising $7 million for Covid-19 relief this year.

Describing Akshay as Bollywood's highest-paid actor, the list states that the actor donated $4 million to Covid-19 relief in India and took part in the "I For India" fundraising concert on Facebook Live in May, which raised Rs 520 million ($7 million) for GiveIndia's Covid-19 fund.

'I'M AN ARDENT FAN OF SPINE-CHILLING THRILLERS'

... says Bhumi Pednekar, who, along with co-stars Arshad Warsi and Mahie Gill, takes us through the journey of Durgamati, a murky horror-thriller releasing on Amazon Prime Video

SHILAJIT MITRA

It hasn't been a particularly thrilling year for remakes. Just last month, Raghava Lawrence's Laxmii crashed and burned, assailing audiences with its scattered plotting and a shrieking Akshay Kumar. Now, another remake of a bonafide Southern hit is upon us. Durgamati, an adaptation of director G Ashok's own 2018 Tamil-Telugu film Bhaagamathie, is releasing on Amazon Prime Video on December 11. Like Laxmii, it's another violent horror story centred on revenge: Chanchal (Bhumi Pednekar), an imprisoned IAS officer, is shifted to the infamous 'Durgamati Haveli' by a team of cops, who wish to interrogate her about a local politician. It doesn't go as planned, as Chanchal is possessed by an ancient spirit and old secrets are unveiled.

"I am not usually up for doing remakes because the expectation is high and we've seen remakes go horribly wrong," says Bhumi, who's stepping into the horror space for the first time. "Having said that, I'm super excited about Durgamati and it was an honour to play the lead in a conspiracy thriller. Being an ardent fan of spine-chilling thrillers myself, I was delighted to be a part of such a gripping story."

Durgamati, as evident from the trailer, falls in the tradition of recent Indian female-led horror films — other examples from this year would be Bulbbul and Kaali Khuhi. These films may begin dark and grotesque, but they often end on a note of moral uplift — with a much-wronged character exacting revenge or restoring order to society. Without spoiling anything, Bhumi assures Durgamati is firm on its messaging.

"I have never been part of a film I felt is not correct," she says. "There is a lot that needs to change and if I can use my craft, my voice, and my medium to bring about a positive change around me, I will be a lucky person. The priority is to entertain the audience, but I always make sure I leave them with more than a couple of laughs."

Given how often she plays women from the heartland, with accents and demeanors different from hers, Bhumi has a long preparatory process for each film. Not for Durgamati, though. Chanchal — originally played by Anushka Shetty in Bhaagamathie — was a protagonist she could relate to and chose more to focus on her mindset than anything else. "Because Chanchal is an officer, there is a certain air about her, her job, and a certain pride that she has for the same. That's one reason I could connect with her because I'm proud of being an Indian."

Arshad Warsi

In the film, Arshad Warsi plays Ishwar Prasad, an influential politician who comes under the CBI's radar. The character was originally portrayed by Jayaram in his Telugu debut. Arshad admits it was fun to step out of his 'comic zone' and try something different. "For me, doing a serious film is like a vacation," Arshad says. "I was initially reluctant to see the original film but my director insisted. Still, I made sure I did not watch the whole thing. Mr Jayaram is a terrific actor and I did not want to get influenced by his performance."

Equally, he wanted to escape the clichés associated with politician roles. "When I did Circuit (in the Munna Bhai series), I wanted him to be different from other tapori characters people had played. Similarly, on this one, I've tried to make Ishwar Prasad more novel and watchable."

The project was just as clutter-breaking for Mahie Gill, who has traded up her flowing red sarees for the slick powerwear of a CBI officer. "A lot of people complimented me on how I look completely different," Mahie laughs. "In that sense it was a great opportunity for me to break my image." Coming from an army background, Mahie was attuned to the tough officer talk in the interrogation scenes. Most of the scenes were filmed in actual mansions in Bhopal. "There were multiple long interrogations we shot," Mahie reveals. "It was exhausting for both me and Bhumi, but we had great fun doing it."
